

Supporting Graduate Students and Faculty During COVID-19

April 2, 2020

ASA continues to monitor and analyze the situation affecting faculty and graduate students in light of the Coronavirus. We welcome input from both students and faculty regarding these important and urgent issues. Graduate students and faculty constitute an inextricably linked collective in charge of promoting the discipline of sociology. Thus, we must pursue our collective interests as we confront unprecedented challenges. In this spirit, ASA supports the right for graduate students to organize, and we support fair compensation for the important labor graduate students provide.