The Challenge of Democratic Participation

In A Preface to Economic Democracy, Robert Dahl offers us a compelling vision of a society of self-governing associations. The arguments that justify a right to self-government in political associations apply with equal force to economic enterprises and other associations. In the 1990s, in spite of efforts both in the United States and many other countries, we are still far from realizing this vision.

In practice, realization often conflicts with other organizational goals and this creates a dilemma and challenge. Students of economic enterprises, of social movements, and of many other spheres of activity have wrestled with the challenge and its potential solutions. Problems arise where technical expertise is required for effective decisions. But it is often true that the claim that technical expertise is necessary is used as an excuse to limit and reduce democratic participation, sometimes with very weak justification.

The challenge, then, is not merely to maximize democratic participation in all situations but to maximize it within the constraints of realizing a complex set of goals and values. Thematic and plenary sessions will explore this challenge and what has been done to meet it at both the micro and macro levels and in many different institutional spheres--health and human services, religion, education, business, unions, local, state, and federal government, mass media, and others.

Plenary Forum: The New ASA Business Meeting

All ASA members are invited to meet ASA Council members at the Business Meeting on Monday morning, August 8, in the San Diego Room at the Westin Bonaventure.

As was the case last year, the business meeting will again be from 7:00-8:30 a.m. Council decided to continue to experiment with the early morning period with a substantive agenda and a format more conducive to discussion and exchange, and with a commitment by Council and officers to participate in the meeting. The early hour may deter some, but a continental breakfast will be provided as an additional incentive.

A proposal for member resolutions is a prototype of an issue on which the business meeting could produce helpful discussion and feedback. It will be a major agenda item for this year's business meeting discussion. The agenda will have two main parts of equal length: First, there will be a discussion of the suggested procedures for member resolutions, and the issues raised by them. To facilitate the discussion, a handout of the business meeting agenda is included in every program packet. Second, there will be an open forum for airing issues and expressing concerns. A discussion of "Changing Gender Composition in Sociology: Politics and Possibilities," proposed by the ASA Committee on the Status of Women in Sociology, will open this portion of the meeting. Please see the agenda handout for more information and plan to attend the business meeting as an active participant.

Spotlight LA

The opening Plenary, six special sessions, a book forum, a series of films/videos, and local tours focus attention on this year's meeting site. The substantive program sessions are highlighted below; please refer to the Program Schedule for complete information on each. The "Documentary Visions of Los Angeles" box and the "LA Tours" section of the Program Notes contains complete details on those attractions.

Didactic Seminars

Didactic seminars are designed to keep sociologists abreast of recent scholarly trends and developments. Experts considered to be at the forefront of a given field are invited by the Program Committee to conduct these sessions.

Seminar speakers will present materials to explain specialized developments within their topic areas. Seminars are scheduled for two to four hours. Please see the listing below for session details and brief descriptions provided by the leaders.

Attendance at each Didactic Seminar is limited to 50, and prepaid registration is required. Seminar fees are noted below. All persons registering for seminars must also be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the Tickets counter in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall for possible openings.

Introduction to Models for Limited Dependent Variables (co-sponsored by the ASA Section on Methodology and the inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research)

Session 2, Thursday, August 4, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Fees: $60 Methodology Section member, $40 students, $75 other

Ticket required for admission

J. Scott Long, Indiana University

The morning seminar will present models for limited dependent variables as extensions of the multiple regression model. After a brief review of the standard regression model, censoring of the dependent variable will be introduced resulting in the tobit model and models for sample selection bias. Additional restrictions on the dependent variable will then be introduced resulting in the binary logit and probit models, and then the ordinal logit and probit model. The theoretical development of these models will be accompanied by substantive examples. These applications will be used to illustrate the interpretation of output from standard statistical packages.

Advanced Techniques for Limited Dependent Variables (co-sponsored by the ASA Section on Methodology and the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research)

Session 3, Thursday, August 4, 1:00-4:00 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Fees: $60 Methodology Section member, $40 students, $75 other

Ticket required for admission

Christopher Winship, Harvard University

The afternoon session will examine techniques for modelling the effects of discrete variables in structural equation models. Emphasis is on the dual roles of discrete variables in structural models: (1) as indicators of latent continuous variables; (2) as shifters. A wide variety of models will be considered including bivariate probit models, selection models, endogenous treatment effects, and simultaneous equations. Issues of estimation and interpretation will be examined. Focus will be on models that can be estimated in LIMDEP.

Contextual Effects

Session 64, Friday, August 5, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

William M. Mason, University of California, Los Angeles

In the past decade the analysis of contextual effects has come to mean primarily multilevel analysis. This didactic seminar exposit multilevel analysis, describes software, and presents examples with computer output. In addition, the seminar considers issues in multilevel analysis, including selectivity and endogeneity, and addresses the question whether contextual analysis and multilevel analysis should be treated as synonymous. Participants should have a working knowledge of regression-like models (e.g., classical least squares with gaussian errors, and logistic regression for binary response).

TIGER

Session 101, Saturday, August 6, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

Larry Carbaugh, Census Bureau

Cross-Fertilizing Methods: Combining Demography and Ethnography

Session 120, Saturday, August 6, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

Cynthia Buckley, University of Texas, Austin

This seminar will focus on integrating ethnographic research techniques in research focusing on migration, fertility, aging and mortality. Participants will discuss previous studies integrating various forms of ethnographic method into demographic research, explore future trajectories of research, and examine funding opportunities in the area for students and scholars.

Qualitative Interviewing

Session 159, Saturday, August 6, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

Robert S. Weiss, University of Massachusetts, Boston

The seminar will cover: (a) the aims of qualitative interviewing; (b) developing an initial interview guide; (c) differences among the kinds of data that can be elicited in qualitative interviewing, including concrete observations, generalized observations, and beliefs, attitudes and opinions; (d) establishing a research partnership with respondents and helping them to provide useful materials; (3) interviewing techniques; (f) types of data analysis; and (g) methods for producing generalized, issue-centered analyses. A brief qualitative interview will be conducted as a demonstration. Participants may find it useful to have prior acquaintance with the leader's Learning from Strangers.

Market Research

Session 180, Sunday, August 7, 8:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

Roger Straus, Executive Director, The Venderveer Group, Inc.

An intensive introduction to basic through advanced strategies and tactics of contemporary marketing research covering marketing research roles, the marketing process, strategies and qualitative and quantitative techniques. Approaches to specific marketing problems or issues of interest to seminar participants will be explored, along with actual case examples. The seminar combines lecture with interactive and experiential learning techniques, including practice of marketing research concepts and methods. It is designed for sociologists of all training levels as well as beginning through advanced marketing researchers, marketing and advertising professionals. No prior marketing research experience and training or advanced methodological expertise is required.

Survival/Hazard Models

Session 232, Sunday, August 7, 2:30-4:20 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

Guang Guo, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

The seminar introduces basic concepts and techniques in event history analysis. Topics to be covered include (1) life table analysis, (2) basic statistical concepts in event history analysis, (3) piece-wise exponential hazard model, and (4) discrete-time event history model. Practical aspects in event history analysis will be emphasized, such as data file construction, use of software, and interpretation.

Participants should be familiar with linear regression and logistic regression.

Cultural Studies

Session 288, Monday, August 8, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

Jon Cruz, University of California, Santa Barbara

Avery Gordon, University of California, Santa Barbara

This seminar is intended for sociologists interested in interdisciplinary cultural studies and who seek a forum for discussing the current state and future directions of cultural studies. The seminar will cover such topics as: the cultural turn in the human sciences, the intellectual origins of cultural studies, the relationship between cultural studies and sociology, and the political implications of cultural studies. The leaders welcome participants with little familiarity with cultural studies.

Sequence Analysis

Session 306, Monday, August 8, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Ticket required for admission; Fee: $20

Andrew Abbott, University of Chicago

This seminar discusses new techniques for finding and studying regular patterns in sequence data. Examples of such data include life course patterns, occupational careers, organizational histories, and other such ordered lists of events. The patterns sought include typical histories, turning points, common subpatterns, and other such ordered regularities. The techniques involved are simple dynamic minimization algorithms that can be understood by any sociologist who understands standard methods. Advanced mathematics is not required. Several examples will be considered. A simple software package will be used for illustration and distributed to participants.

Third Annual Research Support Day

ASA is delighted to present a full day of events featuring research funding opportunities as well as R&D science policy issues. The day starts with the session "Facts & Fiction: Opportunities for Federal Funding and the Development of Competitive Research Proposals." Speakers from federal funding science agencies, including the Department of Education, the National Science Foundation, the National Institute of Justice, and a representative of the National Institutes of Health will describe new and ongoing programs and initiatives, applications and review procedures, criteria of funding, and the elements of competitive proposals.

A new feature of this year's research support day is a major policy session, "Contemporary Support for the Social and the Behavioral Science: Federal R&D Opportunities and Challenges." Key officials from the Clinton Administration and federal funding agencies will speak to current science policy and the role of the social and behavioral sciences. These leaders will address science priorities and possibilities and potential challenges facing the social sciences in the present economic and political climate.

The afternoon is devoted to a special poster session, "Opportunities for Research Support," of major organizations that provide funding and infrastructural support for the social sciences. Organizational representatives will be on hand at each poster display to discuss such issues as: (1) funding priorities, (2) application procedures and review processes, (3) elements of a competitive research proposal, and more. Advocates of the social science research community will also be available to discuss: (1) how the needs and interests of social science researchers are represented to policymakers, (2) how federal policies affect R&D in the social sciences, and (3) how to communicate with Congressional leaders.

Please see sessions 102, 117, and 153 in the Program Schedule for further details.

Professional Workshops

Professional Workshops are a standard component of the Annual Meeting. The sixteen workshops on this year's program roster provide opportunities for attendees to update their knowledge and skills in a variety of professional areas. Workshops are generally open to all meeting registrants; however, please note that the pre-meeting workshop required advance registration and fee payment.

Skill-Building Workshop. Managing Mountains of Words: Qualitative Data Analysis Using the NUD*IST Computer Program

Session 1, Wednesday, August 3, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon, 1:00-5:30 p.m.;

Thursday, August 4, 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon, 1:00-5:00 p.m.

Gerontology Lab, University of Southern California

Fees: $250 ASA Members, $350 non-members, $200 students and low-income Members (below $15,000). Includes breakfast, breaks, reception, and workshop materials.

Organizer: Janet Mancini Billson, American Sociological Association

Leaders: Lyn Richards, Associate Professor of Sociology, Department of Sociology, and Director of Research, Qualitative Solutions and Research, LaTrobe University, Melbourne, Australia

Susan Stein, President, OMNI Research and Training, Inc., Littleton, Colorado

Jim Adams-Berger, Research Analyst, OMNI Research and Training, Inc., Littleton, Colorado

Qualitative research requires managing records that are complex and rich, and often messy and hard to analyze rigorously. Developing insights, exploring connections, and testing ideas is a challenging process. This workshop will explore the differences between qualitative and quantitative data and train participants in NUD*IST, a software approach to managing qualitative data. This graphical user interface program is designed to help researchers handle mountains of words (or any other unstructured on-line or off-line records).

Training will take place in a computer lab with both IBM-PC and Macintosh systems. The program provides a document system that supports data organization and analysis without damaging complexity or losing context. The researcher creates and manages ideas and categories in a flexible indexing system. Participants will learn how to: store and retrieve text about any document; record factual information; write and edit a memo about the document; search for and automatically index words, phrases, and concepts; index documents on-screen; find passages of text; bring ideas together for interpretation and analysis; record emerging theoretical understandings; search for indexing combinations; and return the answers as more data for further questions, testing theories or hypotheses, and linking with numerical analysis.

Social scientists who work with complex qualitative data bases—ranging from ethnographies and community studies to in-depth interviews and focus groups—will find this an invaluable workshop. Participants are invited to attend a special reception Thursday evening to meet other sociologists who work with qualitative data.

Proposed Revisions to the ASA Code of Professional Ethics

Session 27, Friday, August 5, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Westwood

Organizers and Presiders: John M. Kennedy, Indiana University; Barbara Melber, Battelle Seattle Research Center

The ASA Code of Professional Ethics is scheduled for revision in 1995. In this workshop, the members of the Committee on Professional Ethics will present proposals for revisions to the Code. The workshop will focus on a discussion of the substantive issues contained in the proposed revisions. The Committee will consider additional issues raised in the workshop in its proposal to Council for the Code revision.

Members of the ASA Committee on Professional Ethics: Anthony Cortese, Southern Methodist University; Karen Hembry, Oakland, California; Sue K. Hoppe, University of Texas; Joyce M. Iutovich, Keystone University Research Corporation; John M. Kennedy (co-chair), Indiana University; Barbara D. Melber (co-chair), Battelle Seattle Research Center; Helen A. Moore, University of Nebraska; Bernice A. Pescosolido, Indiana University; Ida Harper Simpson, Duke University

Dilemmas of Graduate Student Instructors

Session 46, Monday, August 5, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Teresa A. Sullivan, University of Texas, Austin

Jana M. Walters, University of Texas, Austin

Margaret Greer, Ohio State University

The goal of this workshop is to help graduate students explore the dilemmas of status, authority, and working conditions that they often face when serving as the instructors of record for undergraduate courses. This workshop is intended to be especially helpful for teaching assistants, supervisors of teaching assistants, and faculty who offer courses to train teaching assistants.

Participatory Research

Session 65, Friday, August 5, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Organizer: Francesca M. Cancian, University of California, Irvine

Presenter: Nancy Naples, University of California, Irvine

Panel: John Gaventa, University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Randy Stoecker, University of Toledo

Francesca Cancian, University of California, Irvine

Participatory researchers combine research with education and social change, and share power over the research with community members. We will present examples of participatory research and critique alternative approaches. Then participants will divide into subgroups for discussion or to design a participatory research project.

Negotiating the Corporate and Non-Profit Job Market

Session 83, Friday, August 5, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Organizer: Janet Mancini Billson, American Sociological Association

Presenter: Barbara R. Williams, Special Advisor to the President, Rand Corporation

Panel: Hallie Kintner, Staff Research Scientist, Consumer Operations Research Department, General Motors Development and Research Center

Barbara Farhar, Senior Social Scientist, National Renewable Energy Laboratory

Charles E. Grantham, President, Institute for the Study of Distributed Work, Oakland

Michael Wilson, Senior Study Director, WESTAT, Inc.

Many sociologists work in the private and non-profit sectors in corporations, businesses, research firms, think tanks, consulting firms, and agencies. They bring sociological perspectives and methods into creative research and organizational projects. Panelists will discuss the nature of their work and how to find, advance in, and grow with careers in these settings. Sociologists in corporate and non-profit positions with experiences to share, department chairs, and graduate advisors are encouraged to join in the exchange of ideas.

Facts and Fiction: Opportunities for Funding and the Development of Competitive Research Proposals

Session 102, Saturday, August 6, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Westin Bonaventure, San Francisco

Organizer and Presenter: Felice J. Levine, American Sociological Association

Panel: William Sims Bainbridge, Directorate of Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences, National Science Foundation

Nancy E. Moss, National Institute on Child Health and Human Development, National Institutes of Health

Christy Visher, National Institute of Justice, U.S. Department of Justice

Joseph Conaty, Office of Research, U.S. Department of Education

Getting Journal Articles Published

Session 121, Saturday, August 6, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, San Bernardino

Organizer: Margaret L. Andersen, University of Delaware

Panel: Margaret L. Andersen, University of Delaware

Charles M. Bonjean, former Editor (1966-93) Social Science Quarterly, and Executive Director, The Hogg Foundation for Mental Health and Hogg Professor of Sociology, University of Texas, Austin

Led by editors of two major journals in sociology, this workshop is intended to de-mystify the publication process. The editors will explain the review process and suggest ways authors can improve the articles they submit. The program will be especially helpful for graduate students and new faculty.

The Sociology GRE: Some New Developments

Session 139, Saturday, August 6, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Richard H. Hall, State University of New York, Albany

Phyllis Teitelbaum, Educational Testing Service

Pamela K. Smith, Educational Testing Service

The goal of this workshop is to introduce some new developments in the GRE Sociology test. The major new development is a new format for some questions. This new format, "Sociological Reasoning: Excerpt-based Questions," is based on excerpts from major journals in the field, with 4-6 questions based on each excerpt. The intent is to test the extent to which the test takers can think like sociologists. The second development is the identification of "external degree candidates" as an important category of the GRE Sociology test takers. These individuals use the test to earn up to 30 credits in sociology. They also score much lower and bring down the overall average score. The new item format should help graduate departments in their admissions and aid decisions. At the same time, if the external degree candidates were to be eliminated, the number of test takers in sociology might sink to a point at which ETS would have to suspend the GRE Sociology test. The symbolic importance of this possibility will be discussed.

Minority Fellowship Program Mental Health Professional Development

Session 160, Saturday, August 6, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Brentwood

Organizers: Ramon S. Torrecilha, American Sociological Association; Bernice Pescosolido, Indiana University

Panel: Joseph P. Morrissey, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Bernice Pescosolido, Indiana University, Bloomington

David T. Takeuchi, University of California, Los Angeles

Kenneth G. Lutterman, National Institutes of Mental Health

This workshop is designed to expose current and past MFP Fellows to cutting edge research on the sociology of mental health. Also, the workshop aims at enhancing the professional socialization of MFP Fellows. The workshop features sociologists, Directors of NIMH Centers, and substantive presentations in the sociology of mental health. This session is open to all registered participants, and MFP Fellows are encouraged to participate.

Negotiating the Government Job Market

Session 181, Sunday, August 7, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Fernwood

Organizer: Janet Mancini Billson, American Sociological Association

Presenter: Donald S. Bradley, Director, Division of Program Monitoring and Research, Housing and Urban Development

Panel: Sylvia Ellison, Social Science Analyst, Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch, National Institutes of Health

Jared Hermalin, Project Manager, U.S. General Account Office

Lynne Lackey, Senior Policy Analyst, Department of Health and Human Services, U.S. Public Health Service

Mary McIntosh, Chief of Research, European Branch, U.S. Information Agency

Sociologists work in a wide range of governmental and quasi-governmental agencies as researchers, social science analysts, program analysts, and organizational specialists. Panelists will explore job strategies for locating positions with the Federal government, preparing Standard Form 171, benefits and salary levels, interviewing, and the Federal Network, ASA's employment service that links subscribers to Federal positions. Sociologists in government with experiences to share, department chairs, and graduate advisors are encouraged to join in the exchange of ideas.

Mathematical Sociology

Session 218, Sunday, August 7, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Organizer and Presenter: John Angle, Economic Research Service

We will plan a Mathematical Sociology Section of ASA and a bulletin board/discussion line to support your work in mathematical sociology. These will provide news, ideas, collegial encouragement, help with math, a soap box, and a market for collaborations, grants, consultancies, and jobs. There is a buzz about models from statistical physics and progress in mathematical sociology. The buzz gets intense at this workshop. We need your help. Vive Auguste Comte!

Working Group: John Angle, Economic Research Service; Phillip Bonacich, University of California, Los Angeles; Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College;

Chanoch Jacobsen, Israel Institute of Technology, Haifa; Guillermina Jasso, New York University; Ronald Schoenberg, University of Washington; John Skvoretz,

University of South Carolina; Frans Stokman, University of Groningen; Joel Levine, Dartmouth College

Research on the Profession: Linking Data and Programs (co-sponsored by the ASA Research Program on the Discipline and the Profession)

Session 219, Sunday, August 7, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Westwood

Carla B. Howery, ASA Deputy Executive Officer

Ramon S. Torrecilha, ASA Minority Affairs Program Director

Elizabeth Schuster, ASA Research Assistant

The panel of ASA Research Program staff will report on recent surveys of departments and members, focused on five questions: What do we know about the pipeline of minority students into sociology? What do we know about the range of work sociologists do? What do we know about the patterns of enrollments? What do we know about faculty "lines" and departmental resources (across a variety of institutional types)? What do members consider the pressing challenges facing sociology? The data brought to bear on each question links with current ASA programs which the staff will discuss. Join this workshop to learn more about the research program and the other ASA programs and initiatives.

Using the Internet for Scholarly Research

Session 233, Sunday, August 7, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Organizer: David Nasatir, California State University, Dominguez Hills

Panel: Lisa Delorme, University of California, Berkeley

Don Ploch, University of Tennessee

Shirley Scritchfield, Creighton University

Robin Wilkes, California State University, Dominguez Hills

Hal D. Quigley

This workshop is intended for those interested in utilizing the resources of the Internet as a tool for research. The workshop will touch on both the techniques for using the internet and the ways in which the internet can be used in the conduct of your own research. Several mini-sessions will occur simultaneously in order to permit those with little or no knowledge of the internet to obtain an introduction (email, List-Servers and News) and those with internet skills to address more advanced topics (including ARCHIE, VERONICA, GOPHER, and FTP).

Street Wisdom: How to Survive Graduate School

Session 251, Sunday, August 7, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Chandler

Organizer: Cynthia Negrey, University of Louisville

Panel: Patricia Gagne, University of Louisville

Sonia Miner, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Janis Prince, University of Southern California

Michael Woolcock, Brown University

Panelists will discuss selecting a major professor and developing a dissertation topic, balancing assistantship and student responsibilities, the unique problems of the nontraditional student, and navigating the labor market and finding a job.

Negotiating the Academic Job Market

Session 270, Monday, August 8, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Westwood

Organizer: Janet Mancini Billson, American Sociological Association

President: Richard H. Hall, University of Albany

Panel: Catherine White Berheide, Skidmore College

Lionel Maldonado, California State University, San Marcos

Anne Martin, Edmonds Community College

Sociology professors will explore the keys to being competitive in the academic job market, pursuing job openings, and interviewing for academic positions. Panelists will discuss the nature of their work and how to find, advance in, and grow with careers in a range of academic settings. Faculty with experience in the academic search and/or hiring, department chairs and graduate advisors are encouraged to join the exchange of ideas.

Sociologists and the Legal System: Opportunities and Dilemmas

Session 342, Monday, August 8, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Westwood

Organizer and President: Ann Goetting, Western Kentucky University

Panel: William Bielby, University of California, Santa Barbara

Lee H. Bowker, Humboldt State University

Richard J. Gelles, University of Rhode Island

Ann Goetting, Western Kentucky University

This workshop will focus on the sociologist as expert witness. William Bielby will relate experiences as an expert witness for plaintiffs in class action gender discrimination cases where he has challenged the research methodology of research surveys purporting to show that women are not interested in male-dominated jobs. Lee Bowker and Ann Goetting will discuss considerations for the committed feminist in the context of expert witnessing for battered women who kill their abusers. Richard Gelles will expand expert witnessing concerns to include other forms of family violence. The workshop will review the "expertise" that sociologists can bring to bear, the limitations of the expertise, and practical advice on the issues involved in expert testimony.

Teaching Workshops

Teaching Workshops are a popular part of each Annual Meeting program. There are nineteen workshops on this year's program roster. These sessions provide opportunities for attendees to update their teaching skills and discover ways to integrate new material into their courses. Teaching workshops emphasize interaction between leaders and audience, and attendees are encouraged to bring questions or problems for discussion and new ideas to enliven classroom activities. Workshops are open to all meeting registrants.

Teaching Sociology of Emotions

Session 47, Friday, August 5, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Patricia Wasielewski, University of Redlands

Arlic Hochschild, University of California, Berkeley

The objective of this workshop is to share ideas about teaching courses in the sociology of emotions and how to integrate teaching about emotion in other classes. Part of the workshop will focus on discussing syllabi, assignments and formats for seminars in emotion. The other part of the workshop will be devoted to generating ideas of how the topic of emotion may be used to convey basic sociological ideas in other classes such as research methods, family, and social psychology.

Faculty Roles and Rewards

Session 48, Friday, August 5, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara B

Organizer: Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association

Panel: Robert Davis, North Carolina A&T University

Ernestine Thompson, Augusta College

Eugene Rice, American Association for Higher Education

Following books by Ernest Boyer (Scholarship Reconsidered) and Eugene Rice (The New American Professoriate), sociologists are joining in a national conversation on broadening the definition of their professional and scholarly work. Old conceptions of scholarship do not seem to capture the contributions sociologists are making in teaching and practice, in serving as expert witnesses, community researchers, editors, mentors, consultants, media sources, and so forth.

One issue underlying greater recognition of a range of work is the measurement and evaluation of that work. What mechanism can be established to approximate the peer review system that effectively assesses publishable research? If these tools are developed, which factors will help or hinder their acceptance? How do institutional mission and departmental goals come into play?

This workshop will discuss the dimensions of this national conversation on faculty roles and rewards. In particular, we will focus on ways to measure teaching effectiveness and other academic-teaching types of professional work (e.g., advising, textbook writing).

Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time

Session 66, Friday, August 5, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Westwood

Anne Martin, Edmonds Community College

William G. Roy, University of California, Los Angeles

Although the primary audience is those teaching introductory sociology for the first time, the session is aimed at experienced as well as more novice teachers. Participants will receive handouts such as text reviews, bibliographies, ASA resources, sample assignments, etc.

In the workshop, we will explore issues embedded in questions such as: (1) Is the course to be a broad survey or a study in depth? (2) Do we focus on teaching about sociology or about society? Who is our audience? (3) Can we really teach "the sociological perspective?" How? (4) Will a text be used? What is available? Will a selection of books and articles be used? (5) Should we use independent and collaborative learning? (6) How can we constructively manage conflict in the classroom? What are "teachable moments?" (7) Why and how are we grading? For ranking? For mastery? Can assessment foster good teaching and learning?(8) How can I integrate assignments and class activities into course goals? (9) Can we adapt our teaching to different ways of learning? (10) How do we respond to classrooms full or absent of diversity? (11) How might we integrate general education outcomes such as writing or critical thinking into the course? (12) How can I balance all my obligations, do them well, and survive? Can I teach from my strengths? From my heart?

Teaching about Community and Urban Sociology

Session 84, Friday, August 5, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Phillip Olson, University of Missouri, Kansas City

Ann Wichman, Claremont, California

Collaborative Learning in the College Classroom

Session 103, Saturday, August 6, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Anita C

Leon Anderson, Ohio University

Barbara Heyl, Illinois State University

William Rau, Illinois State University

Collaborate learning involves the use of small student groups in classroom pedagogy. This workshop provides a rationale for collaborative learning and guidelines for structuring student activities. Participants will engage in a demonstration exercise, followed by discussion of group processes and typical problems in student group work.

Teaching the Sociology of Genocide

Session 104, Saturday, August 6, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Levon Chorbajian, University of Massachusetts, Lowell

Kurt Jonassohn, Concordia University

This session is designed to promote teaching on the subject of genocide. Attention will be given to advanced level courses devoted to genocide and to ways in which the topic can be integrated into the beginning sociology course and appropriate upper level courses such as political sociology, the sociology of women, and others. Handouts will be provided.

Integrating Classroom and Community

Session 122, Saturday, August 6, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Glenwood

Organizers: Jeanne Curran, California State University, Dominguez Hills; Susan R.

Takata, University of Wisconsin, Parkside

Community Outreach and Input: Involving the Professional Community in Curriculum and Teaching. Anthony Filer, Legal Aid Foundation

Expanding Available Resources: Including Staff and Students on the Academic Team. Patricia Acone, California State University, Dominguez Hills
 Stuff to Do It With: Text and Material from the CSUDH Liberal Arts Undergraduate Course Designed as a Vehicle for Community Interaction and Sharing in Developing Community Resources and Addressing Community Issues. Susan Fellows, California State University, Dominguez Hills

Brief overview of the methodology and procedures used in developing a sociology course that integrates classroom and community and enhances minority access to professional development. The CSUDH model focuses on law; the UWP model on social research. Concurrent workgroups follow the overview. Handouts, including the text from the CSUDH course, will be available.

Teaching the Sociology of HIV/AIDS

Session 140, Saturday, August 6, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Hugh Klein, NOVA Research Company

Rose Weitz, Arizona State University

This workshop is aimed at faculty who would like to teach or get new ideas for teaching a course on the sociology of AIDS/HIV. The workshop will begin with a discussion of teaching goals. The facilitators will then describe their experiences with the problems of teaching in this area and strategies for combating those problems. Finally, the facilitators will provide examples of assignments, materials, and other resources for teaching this course.

Teaching Writing for and to Sociologists

Session 161, Saturday, August 6, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Glenwood

Organizer and President: Paul Burstain, University of Washington

Making it Clear. Howard S. Becker, University of Washington

Teaching How to Publish in the Major Journals. Paula England, University of Arizona

Is a Literate Sociology Possible? Improving Sociology Writing. Claude S. Fischer, University of California, Berkeley

Self and Sociology in the Writing Course. Michael Schwalbe, North Carolina State University

Sociologists who teach writing to graduate students will talk about how to organize a writing course, what they have learned from teaching their courses, what such courses can accomplish, and what such courses teach about sociologists' writing.

Teaching about Qualitative Methods

Session 182, Sunday, August 7, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Brentwood

Kenneth Stoddart, University of British Columbia

Micro-Computer Software for the Undergraduate Curriculum

Session 198, Sunday, August 7, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Organizers: Gregg Lee Carter, Bryant College; Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College

President: Gregg Lee Carter, Bryant College

Doing Quantitative Data Analysis Across the Undergraduate Sociology Curriculum with Student ChipenDale. Gregg Lee Carter, Bryant College

Computer Simulations for the Classroom, Including Ghetto: A Simulation of Life Choices of the Disadvantaged. Judith C. Stull, La Salle University

Using SPSS Studentware and SPSS/PC in Lower Division Courses. Fred S. Halley, State University of New York, Brockport

Two Hundred Million Cases is a Snap: Analyzing U.S. Census and Other Population Data with ChipenDale. William H. Frey, University of Michigan

Teaching Qualitative Methods with MicroComputers. Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College; James Vela-McConnell, Boston College

This workshop will promote the artful use of computer software in undergraduate sociology courses. It will demonstrate new and important data sets and software upgrades for classroom use on the micro-computer (either for lecture material or for student assignments). It will continue the networking of instructors interested in bringing the computer into their classrooms. Finally, it will draw connections among several popular computer programs now on the market that are classroom oriented, including Student ChipenDale, SPSS Studentware, HyperRESEARCH, and Stullware.

Teaching Comparative Historical Sociology

Session 220, Sunday, August 7, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Fernwood

Organizer and President: Judith Stepan-Norris, University of California, Irvine

Comparative Racial and Ethnic Relations. Hector L. Delgado, University of Arizona

Comparative and Historical Methods. Thomas Janoski, Duke University

World Systems Analysis. William G. Martin, University of Illinois, Urbana

Comparative Gender Relations. Kum-Kum Bhavnani, University of California, Santa Barbara

The panel will review ideas and techniques for teaching various courses in comparative and historical sociology. Innovative and effective syllabi, projects and exercises appropriate for both graduate and undergraduate level courses will be presented. Participants will discuss their experiences with particular comparative and historical courses they have taught on methods, gender, race/ethnicity and the world system.

Race, Class and Gender in the Sociology Curriculum

Session 252, Sunday, August 7, 4:30 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Brentwood

Rose Brewer, University of Minnesota

Catherine White Berheide, Skidmore College

This workshop focuses on transforming the sociological curriculum as a critical venue for meeting the multicultural "requirement" in higher education. In addition, the important issues of pedagogy, undergraduate and graduate training, and complex organizational realities are at the center of this discussion. The participants should leave the workshop with a good understanding of the challenges and possibilities of multiculturalism in colleges and universities and the field of sociology.

Developing Critical Thinking Skills and College-Preparedness in High School Students through Sociological Research

Session 266, Monday, August 8, 8:00 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Robert Gilbert, Palatine High School

Donna Wendel, Bachrodt School

Barbara Karcher, Kennesaw State College

Earl Babbie, Chapman University

Keith Roberts, Hanover College

Charles Jaret, Georgia State University

This workshop is intended for high school teachers and administrators, as well as college faculty concerned about interfacing with those who prepare students for college. Topics include a high school capstone course preparing students for college through empirical research and critical thinking, core sociological concepts, simulation games for teaching social concepts, developing critical thinking sequentially from K-12 and in college through sociological concepts and active learning exercises, and a student-published magazine involving sociological analysis.

Participants wishing semester credit or CEU's may contact Chapman University Office of Continuing Education (714-532-6088) or Barbara Karcher (404-423-6247) for information about registration fees required for such credit. Participants who wish it may also receive an ASA Certificate of Attendance.

Teaching Sociology with a Life Course Perspective

Session 271, Monday, August 8, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Phyllis Moen, Cornell University

Timothy J. Owens, Indiana University, Indianapolis

The goal of this workshop is to help instructors teach life course concepts by having students write their life histories or construct their "lifelines." We will focus on how such personal histories can be used to teach about (a) how early experiences shape people's lives, (b) how historical events influence lives, and (c) the effect of life course contexts and transitions on social and psychological outcomes. Participants should be prepared to participate in some short exercises and demonstrations.

Effective Course Design and Textbook Selection

Session 289, Monday, August 8, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Los Angeles Hilton, Wilshire

Reed Geertsen, Utah State University

Nancy Greenwood, Indiana University, Kokomo

This workshop will present some of the essential elements of effective course design. Integrated strategies for organizing course materials and enhancing student interest will be discussed and demonstrated. The workshop will also describe criteria for evaluating textbooks and will suggest ways for selecting and using reading materials which fit course needs, pedagogical goals, and student characteristics.

Con/Testing/textualizing the Canon: New Approaches to Teaching the Classics

Session 324, Monday, August 8, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Barbara Laslett, University of Minnesota

This workshop is intended for sociologists teaching (or interested in teaching) classical theory, general theory, or the history of sociology. We will discuss new approaches to the origins of the discipline and to teaching its history.

The Capstone Course

Session 325, Monday, August 8, 2:30-4:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Theodore C. Waggner, Miami University

Laurence A. Basirico, Elon College

This workshop is intended for sociologists interested in learning about and sharing ideas and methods related to teaching the capstone course. Sociologists approaching the capstone course for the first time, those who have been teaching it regularly, graduate students, junior faculty, senior faculty, departmental chairs, and administrators are encouraged to attend. The workshop will address general objectives of capstone courses in liberal arts programs, objectives of sociology capstone courses, determining specific objectives for the capstone course at your school, introducing and establishing the capstone as part of the curriculum, advantages and disadvantages of teaching the capstone course in large and small schools, balancing content with pedagogy, using the capstone as a bridge to sociological practice, and other relevant issues. The session will consist of a presentation and an open discussion. Sample syllabi and other literature about the capstone will be presented and discussed.

Enhancing the Undergraduate Environment

Session 343, Monday, August 8, 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Organizers: Donna C. Phillips, Winchester, Kentucky; Catherine Zimmer, North Carolina State University

Bringing Quality and Accountability to Teaching in the Diverse Classroom. Cindy Anderson, North Carolina State University

Increasing Classroom Participation. Rebecca Bach, North Carolina State University

Reducing Math Anxiety. Catherine Zimmer, North Carolina State University

Static Spaces to Dynamic Places. Donna C. Phillips, Winchester, Kentucky

Departmental Workshops

The annual Role of the Chair Workshop takes on a new face this year that should attract new chairs as well as current chairs. Research trends from ASA's innovative Research Program on the Discipline and Profession and insights from the 1993-94 meetings with sociologist-administrators will infuse the agenda. Timely information, cutting edge keynote speeches, and fresh perspectives will help department chairs make the most of their leadership capabilities in a time of shrinking or steady-state resources. The departmental events will span two days--Part One, Thursday, August 4 (the day before the Annual Meeting) and Part Two, Friday, August 5 (the first day of the Annual Meeting). These sessions are designed for chairs from all types of institutions.

As an integral part of this departmental series, three breakout groups for chairs from different types of institution are scheduled. The long-standing meeting of chairs of Ph.D. programs will take place on Friday from 8:30-10:15 a.m. At the same time, however, we are introducing two new meetings--one for Master's degree programs and one for Baccalaureate and Associate degree programs--in order to facilitate interaction among chairs in those institutional types. Our goal is to create a forum in which department chairs who share mutual concerns, aspirations, and challenges can brainstorm critical topics and share useful information with each other. Through networking and communicating about common issues at the Annual Meeting, linkages among chairs will be strengthened between meetings.

A modest fee of $55 ($45 for ASA Department Affiliates) will be charged for the pre-meeting workshop on Thursday, and includes refreshments, dinner, coffee, and dessert. There is no charge for Friday's events (Part Two).

Keynote Speaker: Reece McGee, Purdue University.

Documentary Visions of Los Angeles: Continuous Screenings of Videos

Video and film documentary is a lively and diverse genre used, among other things, to explore the many cultures and scenes that converge in Southern California. A selection of documentaries--some made by video artists who will participate in session #157, "Insiders and Outsiders": Problems in the Film and Video Documentation of Los Angeles Culture--will be shown continuously from 9:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on August 6, 7, and 8, at the Westin Bonaventure in Santa Anita A.

Videos and films to be screened include:

"The Love Tapes, Vol. 1" by Wendy Clarke (1978-1993). 28 min.

Made over a 15-year period, a chronicle of video monologues in which everyday people, all over the world, talk for three minutes about a single topic--"love." Volume 1, produced in 1981, is a selection of tapes made by Northeasterners. (Vol. 2, not being shown, was made at the Santa Monica Mall.)

- Rental (VHS): $50; purchase: $200. Contact: Wendy Clarke, P.O. Box 187, Topanga, CA 90290; phone 310-455-0861.

"One on One: Ken and Louise" by Wendy Clarke (1991). 82 min.

One of a series of video letters exchanged between inmates at the men's prison in Chino (where Clarke was Artist-in-Residence) and members of the Crenshaw business community and a church in Santa Monica.

- Rental (VHS): $75; purchase: $200. Contact: Wendy Clarke, P.O. Box 187, Topanga, CA 90290; phone 310-455-0861.

"Everyday Echo Street: A Summer Diary" by Susan Mogul (1993). 30 min.

An autobiographical portrait and "domestic ethnography" of Mogul's Highland Park neighborhood, a working-class and primarily Latino community in the northeast corner of Los Angeles. An insider's view of how home and neighborhood are constructed in everyday relations,

"Everyday Echo Street" redefines "family" in a modern urban setting. Commissioned by and premiered at the 1993 LA Festival; funded by the Ford Foundation; presented at the 1994 Melbourne Film Festival.

- Rental (VHS): $100; purchase (VHS or 3/4"): $300. Contact: Susan Mogul, 4920 Echo Street, #14, Los Angeles, CA 90042; phone 213-255-1262.

"We Draw--You Video" by Susan Mogul (1991). 26 min.

A video journal of Mogul's experiences teaching a group of gifted and culturally diverse elementary school children in a Los Angeles public school.

- Rental (VHS): $75; purchase: $200. Contact: Susan Mogul, 4920 Echo Street, #14, Los Angeles, CA 90042; phone 213-255-1262.

"South Central Los Angeles: Inside Voices" by Maxi Cohen (1994). 90 min.

Ten people who live and/or work in South Central Los Angeles--Korean Americans, Latinos, African Americans, and European Americans--recorded their perspectives on video. Cohen crafted them into a feature-length documentary which addresses the ethnic diversity and cultural complexity of South Central, flashpoint of recent unrest, through the eyes of those who live its contradictions every day.

- Rental (VHS): $85; purchase: $295. Contact: Maxi Cohen Film and Video Productions, 565 Sunset Avenue, Venice, CA 90291; phone 310-392-1246; fax 310-450-7385.

"The Ride," executive producer Shauna Garr (1994). Two shows, each 30 min.

Traveling across the U.S. with video cameras in hand, a group of young people sought out other teens in seven states and created a new television series to be aired on PBS. Urban, small town, and rural teens of every class and color discuss the issues they face--poverty, bulimia, safe sex, gangs, jazz, high school football, sweat ceremonies, family expectations, regrets, lessons learned.

- For rental and purchase information, contact: The Independent Television Service (ITVS), phone 612-225-9035.

"Chicks in White Satin," directed by Elaine Holliman (1993). Viewing time: 25 min.

A humorous portrait of two lesbians who are planning their traditional Jewish wedding. Their lifestyle crashes up against wedding gown fittings, waltz lessons, and family expectations, and the event becomes transformative for one of the mothers, who had been uncomfortable with her daughter's sexuality. Nominated for a 1994 Academic Award.

- For rental and purchase information, contact: Jacqueline Woolf, School of Cinema-Television, University of Southern California, phone 213-740-2804.

"Do You Take This Man? Pakistani Arranged Marriages," directed by Elise Fried (1989). 20 min.

Follows three young women in the L.A. Pakistani community who are facing this issue. Two women embrace the tradition of trusting one's parents to select an appropriate husband, while the third protests the custom as outmoded.

- For rental and purchase information, contact: Jacqueline Woolf, School of Cinema-Television, University of Southern California, phone 213-740-2804.

"Cambodian Doughnut Dreams," directed by Charles Davis (1990). 30 min.

The experiences of Cambodian refugees in Los Angeles, trying to come to terms with their war-torn past while pursuing their version of the American dream. Inspired by the success of friends and relatives, these immigrants have found a niche through acquiring doughnut shop franchises and selling a product alien to their culture.

- For rental and purchase information, contact: First Run Icarus, 153 Waverly Place, New York, NY 10014; phone 800-876-1710.

"Bui doi: Life Like Dust," directed by Ahrin Mishan and Nick Rothenberg. 29 min.

Ricky Phan, a Vietnamese refugee and gang member who is now in a California state prison for armed robbery, tries to make sense of a difficult life. The film includes cinema verite footage of Vietnamese gang life, shot over a three-year period prior to Ricky's arrest. It also returns to Ricky's memories of childhood on the streets of war-weary

Saigon, his family's escape and immigration to Southern California, and his movement into a Vietnamese gang.

- Rental (VHS): $65; purchase: $165. Rental (original 16mm film version): $150; purchase: $375. All sales and rentals include a study guide for the film. Contact: Cross Current Media, 415-552-9550.

Speakers:

Anne C. Petersen, Deputy Director, National Science Foundation

Wendy Baldwin, Deputy Director for Extramural Research, National Institutes of Health

M.R.C. Greenwood, Associate Director for Science, White House Office of Science and Technology Policy

Regular Sessions

Regular Sessions (RS) are comprised of papers submitted in response to the 1994 Call for Papers. Sixty-seven general topics were announced for open submission, and each RS organizer received anywhere from 3 to 60 submissions for review. A total of 150 formal paper sessions were organized from the submitted papers. (Last year 141 sessions were formed from 71 announced topics.) Please refer to the Program Schedule for details on each Regular Session.

Open Topic Refereed Roundtables

This year the Program Committee has taken a cue from the popular refereed roundtable sessions organized by many Sections, and Open Topic Refereed Roundtables were added to the general program. Scott Coltrane and Masaki Ishii-Kuntz (University of California, Irvine) were invited to review submissions and organize sessions of 6-8 roundtables following a "mini-session" format: a general topic identified for each table, two to four paper presentations, and a table presider to coordinate presentations and discussion.

These sessions are not intended to compete with Section sessions; rather, since many topics are not covered by Sections, these sessions will allow individuals heretofore excluded from the active interaction of refereed roundtable presentation to claim a place on the program.

Five Open Refereed Roundtable Sessions are included on this year's Program. Please refer to sessions 123, 183, 221, 272, and 326 in the Program Schedule for details.

Informal Discussion Roundtables

This popular program component is designed to bring together small groups of people interested in discussing specific topics. The 1994 Program Committee invited Jack Harkins and Delores Wunder (College of Dupage) to review proposals and select topics and discussion leaders.

The informal discussion sessions have been organized around general topics. Please refer to the Program Schedule for complete details on these sessions. Since several discussions are held simultaneously in one large meeting room, no audio-visual equipment or recording devices may be used and no papers will be prepared for distribution.

Poster Sessions

This new component of the program features a series of display presentations that allow face-to-face conversation between authors and viewers. By facilitating informal discussions between presenters and "browsers", Poster Sessions provide a more direct forum for information exchange than do formal paper presentations.

The 1994 Program Committee invited Beth Hess (County College of Morris) and Lisa D. Brush (University of Pittsburgh) to review papers and select poster presentations. Three sessions have been arranged from the open submissions. These display presentations will be located in the Pasadena Room at the Westin Bonaventure Hotel, adjacent to the exhibits. Be sure to include some time in your schedule to visit this area and browse through these presentations!

LA Tours

Highlight your visit to Los Angeles by participating in at least one, or perhaps several, of the special tours coordinated by Bob Herman (Pomona College). Enjoy walking tours led by area sociologists and discover the old and new neighborhoods and distinguished buildings and plazas within several blocks of your hotel. Consider visiting the city's ethnic enclaves, view the murals that express the community's cultural identity, or explore Forest Lawn, one of Southern California's major tourist attractions, from a sociological angle. You will also have an opportunity to visit the Simon Wiesenthal Center, tour AIDS Project Los Angeles, or hear from a community action group on the issue of toxic pollution.

The schedule of tours is provided below. Reservations are mandatory. Please check at the ASA Tickets counter in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall for availability and any late cancellations. Those already enrolled in tours should have received their tickets with their name badges.

All tours will depart from the Westin Bonaventure. Attendees are asked to meet in the designated tour group area in the California Foyer near ASA Information. Please arrive promptly so that departure times may be observed. Keep in mind that arrival times back to the Westin are estimates only and may vary somewhat due to traffic congestion.

Tours are generally not accessible to attendees in wheelchairs unless alternative transportation was arranged in advance.

Fees noted with the descriptions below include all entrance fees. Several of the tours stop at local restaurants for lunch and this cost is not included in the tour fee. Please read the tour descriptions carefully for clarification. Fees are non-refundable.

Tour 1: Simon Wiesenthal Center and Beit Hashoa Museum of Tolerance

Friday, August 5, 8:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Fee: $20

This museum attempts to deal simultaneously with the uniqueness and the universality of the Holocaust by combining a Holocaust center, a museum of Tolerance, and a high tech multi-media interactive Learning Center. The ASA tour will include all three exhibits.

The Holocaust exhibit traces Hitler's rise to power and—through moving exhibits and multimedia interactive video—shows how ordinary people were coopted and trapped by the Nazi regime. The exhibit carries us through the horrors of the war and ends with personal stories of survivors in the hall of testimony. To personalize the enormity of the Holocaust each visitor is given a photo passport of a young child upon entering the exhibit. Using computer stations located throughout the exhibit one can find out what is happening to the child at each stage of war. At the end of the tour visitors receive a printout of the story to take home.

The second exhibit, the Tolerance Center, portrays the effects of hatred and bigotry in many different contexts in the U.S., including an inspiring history of the civil rights movement and a multi-media multi-ethnic account of the LA riots. As Bill Gamson wrote in the March Footnotes, the museum is noted for its' high tech approach to present its' message and, for some people, the medium is in tension with the grim content. But a visit to the museum is sure to challenge each of us to seek the most effective ways to teach about the deadly effects of ethnic and racial hatred.

In the last exhibit, the third floor Learning Center, professors can try out a wide variety of high tech multi-media interactive learning techniques—and think about taking some home for special classes. (your children—ages 12 and up—may never want to leave this exciting classroom.)

Sociologists who will accompany the tour as adjunct-guides and resource people include Nechama Tec, Helen Fein, Bill Gamson, R. Ruth Linden, Deborah Kaufman, William Helmreich, Wesley Fisher, Mary Lagerwey, and Lenore J. Weitzman. (Bus dropoff/pickup—limited to 40 participants)

Tour 2: Gay LA and AIDS Project Los Angeles (co-sponsored by the Sociology Lesbian and Gay Caucus and the Sociologists AIDS Network)

Friday, August 5, 1:00-4:15 p.m.

Fee: $10

Tour Leader: Peter Nardi, Pitzer College

We will explore one of the largest gay and lesbian communities in the country by first visiting the Gay and Lesbian Community Services Center. Serving the needs of the diverse lesbian and gay communities of the Greater Los Angeles area, GLCSC is the world's oldest and largest service center of its kind. With a $12 million budget, the Center provides a wide range of counseling services, HIV testing and health education, a youth outreach program, career counseling, and housing information. We will tour the facilities and meet with some of the administrative staff and volunteers. We will continue on to tour AIDS Project Los Angeles, the nation's second largest AIDS services agency, with an annual budget around $20 million. Responding to an increasingly diverse and non-gay population of people with AIDS and HIV, APLA provides education, food banks, counseling, financial advice, and legal information. (Bus excursion with some walking -- limited to 45 participants)

Tour 3: Environmental Justice

Friday, August 5, 1:00-4:30 p.m.

Fee: $20

Tour Leaders: Guides from the Labor/Community Strategy Center

The Environmental Justice Movement is changing the conception of "environmentalism" in the United States, bringing to light shortcomings in urban development strategies which have resulted in the poisoning of low income neighborhoods and communities of color. The Labor/Community WATCHDOG, an environmental justice project of the Labor/Community Strategy Center, has been organizing for three years in the harbor area of Los Angeles: Wilmington, Carson and the South Bay. This hour-long tour will highlight the lives of the people who live in those neighborhoods and the effects of environmental racism in their lives: the refineries which poison them; the freeways and transportation arteries which pollute and dissect their neighborhoods; and the economic, labor and environmental impact of the harbor and other polluting plants located in the area. In addition, the tour will include the community's response to this injustice: the ongoing organizing and leadership development through the Labor/Community Watchdog; the different struggles, defeats and victories experienced in the arena of public policy; and the ongoing boycott recently declared by residents against Texaco Oil. (Bus excursion -- limited to 45 participants)

Tour 4: Sociohistorical Tour of Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale
Saturday, August 6, 8:45 a.m.-1:00 p.m.

Fee: $10

Tour Leader: Vern Bengtson, University of Southern California, Los Angeles

This tour explores Americans' paradoxical values and norms regarding dying and death, seen in the context of a prototypical American commercial success story. Starting in the 1920's Forest Lawn developed innovations which forever changed the American funeral industry and made it one of Southern California's prime tourist attractions. We will meet in the Garden of the Mystery of Life, next to a reproduction of Michelangelo's statue of David (minus fig leaf, a casualty of the 1971 earthquake and the 1960's sexual revolution) and proceed to view the trinity of Forest Lawn's artistic hallmarks: the Last Supper, the Crucifixion, and the Resurrection. The tour will be led by Vern Bengtson, University of Southern California professor of sociology and gerontology, who has been conducting field trips to Forest Lawn as part of social psychology courses since 1970. (Bus dropoff/pick up—limited to 45 participants)

Tour 5: Monterey Park

Saturday, August 6, 10:30 a.m.-2:15 p.m.

Fee: $10

Monterey Park: Newcomers and established residents in the mainland's first majority Asian city. Starting in East Los Angeles and Boyle Heights, centers of Mexican American people and culture, the tour will move to Monterey Park, a focal point of recent Chinese and Asian immigration into the multiethnic suburbs of the San Gabriel Valley. Researchers Jose Calderon, John Horton, Mary Pardo, Leland Saito, Linda Shaw, and Yen-Fen Tseng will describe demographic and economic trends in the region and patterns of conflict and cooperation between newcomers and established Latino, Asian, and Anglo residents. Participants will have an opportunity for lunch (not included in tour price) or exploring at one of the ethnic mall areas. (Bus excursion with some walking -- limited to 40 participants)

Tour 6: Jewish Los Angeles

Sunday, August 7, 10:30 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

Fee: $10

Tour Leaders: Steve Gold, Whittier College; Bruce Phillips, Hebrew Union College; Steve Sass, Southern California Jewish Historical Society

With over 500,000 Jews in Southern California, Los Angeles is the second largest Jewish city in North America. This tour will visit several sites on the West Side which make up the heart of the Los Angeles Jewish community. These include Wilshire Boulevard, home to major Jewish institutions; La Brea, where a growing Orthodox community resides; and Pico-Robertson and West Hollywood, where recent Jewish immigrants from Israel, Iran and the former Soviet Union are building communities among elderly American Jews. The tour will include a stop for lunch (not included in tour price) on Fairfax, with its many bakeries, restaurants and Judaica shops. (Bus excursion with some walking -- limited to 40 participants)

Tour 7: Murals

Monday, August 8, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Fee: $25

Tour Leaders: Social and Public Art Resource Center staff

Explore the changing Mid-City region of Los Angeles through murals. Join staff members of the Social and Public Art Resource Center on a guided bus tour of murals in Pico Union, Koreatown, and other neighborhoods throughout the Mid-City area. We will be reading the murals as expressions of community and cultural identity in this demographically shifting area of Los Angeles. The tour features publicly commissioned, privately commissioned, and uncommissioned work. Along the way, we will meet artists who will describe their process and discuss their work. (Bus excursion -- limited to 45 participants)

Guided Walking Tours of Downtown LA

Tour 8: Saturday, August 6, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Tour 9: Saturday, August 6, 12:30-2:15 p.m.

Tour 10: Sunday, August 7, 8:30-10:15 a.m.

Tour 11: Sunday, August 7, 10:30 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Fee: $5

Tour Leaders: Bob Herman, Pomona College; Tim Diamond, California State University, Los Angeles, Ann Wichman, University of La Verne

There IS a Downtown L.A.! True, many businesses have decamped to the suburbs, city planners have tried to rid the area of pedestrians, and the art of window shopping lives only in memory. However, after decades of retreat from the urban core, Los Angeles is rediscovering its center, a place that has been here all along. Within five blocks of the Bonaventure Hotel, you'll see old, new, and renewed neighborhoods, including the Latinized Broadway Historic District and several of the city's most distinguished buildings and plazas—including the Bradbury Building, Central Library, Biltmore Hotel, Wells Fargo Plaza, Museum of Contemporary Art, and the California Plaza. We'll also see L.A.'s latest efforts at "placemaking"—Watercourt, Pershing Square, Bunker Hill Steps, and Maguire Garden. Guides will point out the historic, political, and sociological contexts of recent changes. (Walking tour—limited to 25 participants)

Student Activities

The ASA Membership Committee and the Honors Program Student Association have made special efforts to make undergraduate and graduate students feel welcome at the Annual Meeting.

Student Center. Students attending the Annual Meeting may make use of the Student Center located in the San Fernando Room in the Westin Bonaventure. The center will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Friday through Monday, August 5-8, and 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. on Tuesday, August 9, to provide a place for students to meet, make dinner arrangements, caucus, etc. Some student sessions sponsored by the Honors Program will also be held in this space. All students attending the Annual Meeting are welcome to use this hospitality room. Some refreshments will be provided each day.

Student Discounts. Registration fees are substantially discounted for students, and special blocks of sleeping rooms at discounted rates were arranged at downtown hotels. Valid student IDs may be required to verify eligibility for the student rates.

Student Reception. An informal reception, co-hosted by the Membership Committee and the Honors Program Student Association, will be held on Saturday, August 6, at 7:30 p.m., in the San Bernardino Room at the Westin Bonaventure. All students registered to attend the Annual Meeting are invited to this lively social gathering.

Student Sessions. Several student sessions have been organized by the ASA Honors Program, and some workshops are oriented toward issues of interest to students. See sessions 46, 85, 125, 163, 236, 251, 292 in the Program schedule for complete details.

Additional student sessions sponsored by the Honors Program but not part of the formal Annual Meeting program appear below.

Annual Meeting Activities. Section activities are interspersed throughout the five-day schedule of the Annual Meeting and are open to all meeting attendees. These specialized sessions range in format from formal paper presentations to panels and discussion roundtables.

The number of sessions allocated to each Section is based on the size of the Section. For the 33 active sessions, there are a total of 124 program sessions scheduled. There are also four organizational meetings scheduled for groups interested in forming new sections: International Migration, Sociology of Religion, Mathematical Sociology, and Race, Class, and Gender.

Section Council and Business meetings, program sessions, and receptions are summarized below for quick reference; for more complete information, refer to the body of the program schedule. Days of the Annual Meeting are Friday, August 5; Saturday, August 6; Sunday, August 7, Monday, August 8; and Tuesday, August 9.

Special Events

Welcoming and Orientation Party

All meeting registrants are invited to the Welcoming and Orientation Party on Friday, August 5, from 6:30-8:00 p.m., to celebrate the opening day of the 1994 Annual Meeting.

Newcomers can make new friends and be briefed on ASA activities and avenues for formal and informal involvement in the Association. Repeat players can see old friends and get updated on current activities of the Association and its sections and committees. New members and first-time meeting participants are particularly encouraged to attend.

Remember to bring the Welcoming Party flyer from your program packet with you to exchange for a complimentary beverage!

Honorary Reception

Since 1984, the American Sociological Association has been joined by social science departments and regional societies in co-sponsoring the annual Honorary Reception that follows the President's address and the ASA Awards Ceremony. This year the Association is pleased to acknowledge the following co-hosts of the Honorary Reception:

Sponsors:

Boston College
Loyola Marymount University
Pacific Sociological Association
Pitzer College
Purdue University
University of California, Los Angeles
University of Michigan
University of Southern California

Donors:

California State University, Long Beach
Chapman University
San Diego State University
University of California, Irvine
University of Chicago

All meeting attendees are invited to join with our co-hosts at the Honorary Reception at 6:30 p.m., Saturday, August 6, in the San Diego Room at the Westin Bonaventure to express our appreciation, congratulations, and best wishes to the President and major award winners on this festive occasion!

DAN

Be sure your meeting schedule for Friday, August 5, includes the 21st annual Departmental Alumni Night (DAN), where sociologists from around the world meet to reminisce about graduate school days, create new coalitions, and catch up on the latest news!

The gathering will begin when the opening plenary session concludes, around 10:30 p.m., and plenty of time is provided for chatting with colleagues and alumni.

Each graduate department of sociology in the United States and Canada is given the opportunity to sponsor a table to attract alumni and friends. Tables will also be provided for sociologists in business and industry, international scholars and guests, and students.

Make sure your meeting plans include the social event that brings all your friends together in one place at one time. Join the alumni interaction outside on the Plaza Pool Deck at the Westin Bonaventure at 10:30 p.m. on Friday, August 5th!

Minority Fellowship Program 20th Anniversary Celebrations

Two special events will be held on Saturday night, August 6th, to salute the 20th anniversary of ASA's Minority Fellowship Program and raise additional funds to support the program.

The 1995 Program Committee will host a Comedy Hour with Bertice Berry on Saturday night, August 6, 8:30-9:30 p.m. Berry is a nationally known comic and talk show host who also has a PhD in sociology. Proceeds from the event will be used to cover benefit costs and to support the ASA Minority Fellowship Program ($20 per person contribution: $10 toward benefit, $10 tax-deductible donation to the ASA Minority Scholar Fund).

Tickets are available at the ASA Tickets counter in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall at the Westin Bonaventure. Those with advance reservations should have received their tickets with their name badges. Advance ticket sales close at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 6.; prices are $20 general admission, $15 students. Tickets at the door will be $25 general admission; $20 students.

The Latina/o Section will host Noche de Cultura, featuring Latina/o entertainers such as Monica Palacios, musical group Goddess 13, poet Teresa Mendoza, and Latin mariachi band Mercedes Marquez. This fundraising event for the ASA Minority Fellowship Program will be held on Saturday, August 6, 10:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight. Tickets are $10 in advance, $15 at the door. Check at the Sections display table in the ASA Membership and Publications Center in the Pasadena Room for ticket availability.

Reserve Saturday night, August 6th, for some fun and laughter in support of the MFP!

Teaching Endowment Excursion

Interested in dinner, music, museums, and shopping? Come sample the authentic Mexican culinary delights of Early California at Casa La Golondrina, the first Mexican restaurant in Los Angeles. This dinner is a fund-raiser for the ASA Teaching Endowment Fund (TEF), a small grants program which supports teaching-related projects. A portion of each ticket price will go toward supporting the fund. This year the theme of the dinner will be a celebration of Hans Mauksch and his many contributions to teaching.

La Golondrina is located at the site of the historic El Pueblo de Los Angeles. Buses will depart the Westin Bonaventure at 5:30-6:30 p.m. on Sunday evening, August 7, to take you to the dinner site. Music and dancing will also be featured. After dining you may walk through the many historic buildings and museums housed at the Fort and shop amongst the many vendors at the open market. Transportation will be available to return those interested to the hotel in time for the evening plenary session.

Tickets for this year's dinner are $35. Those who enrolled in advance should have received their tickets with their name badges. Others may purchase tickets at the ASA Tickets counter in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall at the Westin Bonaventure. Contribute to the Teaching Endowment Fund and have a casual, colorful evening event in downtown LA!

In Remembrance

During the Presidential Address and Awards Ceremony (Saturday, August 6, 4:30-6:15 p.m.), there will be a "Moment of Silence" to remember those members of the ASA who died during the last year. Names submitted to Footnotes for September 1993-August 1994 are listed below. If you know of other sociologists who should be on this list but whose names do not appear below, please contact the ASA Office prior to the Ceremony.

Activities of Other Groups

The wide-ranging interests of ASA members generate meetings of special interest groups during each year's Annual Meeting. Space is assigned as available to these groups to hold their meetings in evening time slots when no program sessions or other ASA activities are scheduled.

"Other Group" activities range from ad hoc sessions sponsored by individual ASA members to meetings of sister/affiliated organizations.

In addition to the scheduled meeting time, some groups will have membership information and publications on display in the Table Space Area at the Westin Bonaventure Hotel.

Registration

Preregistrants. Attendees who registered before July 15 may pick up badges, program kits, and special tickets at the Preregistration booth in the California Foyer at the Westin Bonaventure. Service hours are as follows:

Thursday, August 4	1:00-8:00 p.m.
Friday, August 5	8:00 a.m.-8:00 p.m.
Saturday, August 6	7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sunday, August 7	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Monday, August 8	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Preregistrants who arrive on August 17 may pick up their meeting materials at the ASA Information Booth in the California Foyer.

On-Site Registration. Those who missed the preregistration deadline will find the On-Site Registration area inside the Grand Ballroom at the Fontainebleau Hilton. Registration hours are as follows:

Thursday, August 4	1:00-5:00 p.m.
Friday, August 5	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Saturday, August 6	7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sunday, August 7	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Monday, August 8	8:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Tuesday, August 9	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.

Reminder: Access to all ASA services is restricted to meeting registrants. Badges are required for entry to the Exhibits, Employment Service, Child Care Service, and Paper Sales areas. Attendance at events which require fee payment (e.g., Didactic Seminars, Tours, MFP Comedy Hour, TEF Dinner) is restricted to persons who have registered for the meeting.

Cancellations. Program participant registration fees are non-refundable. 90% of fees for general registration, seminars, workshops, and tours will be refunded if written cancellation was received before July 1. All fees and deposits were non-refundable after July 1, 1994.

Accessibility Resources and Services

The ASA offers several services and oversight arrangements to facilitate attendance at the Annual Meeting. The ASA Information desk will coordinate resources during the meeting week for registrants with physical disabilities who are attending the Annual Meeting. Special services which were arranged in advance may be verified with Information Desk staff on your arrival to ensure that you receive the assistance you need.

Comfort Zone. Attendees coping with illness, meeting fatigue, or stress may use the small room set aside by ASA as a "safe haven" to escape briefly from the noise and bustle of meeting activities. This space is provided in response to concerns brought to the ASA Council by the Sociologists' AIDS Network, Sociology Lesbian and Gay Caucus, and the ASA Committee on Society and Persons with Disabilities.

Sessions. ASA has made arrangements for sign language interpreters and other communication avenues for meeting registrants who requested such services. There is also a small shuttle bus which will run regularly between the Hilton and Westin for use by attendees with mobility impairments. As of press time, the available shuttle vehicles are not wheelchair accessible, however. Attendees in motorized wheelchairs may check at the ASA Information desk regarding the most accessible route between the two hotels.

Housing. Attendees who requested wheelchair accessible rooms, bathrooms with safety equipment (grab bars), amplified telephone receivers, closed captioned TV equipment, TDD access, "shake awake" alarms, or other resources when making room reservations and who have not received the desired equipment are asked to contact the ASA Office immediately.

Travel. Attendees with mobility impairments who are flying in and out of Los Angeles are advised to notify their airline 24 hours before departure if they will need assistance in getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area. Elevator access is available but not as obvious as escalators and stairs. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing transportation aid.

Local Transportation. Wheelchair accessible SuperShuttle transportation to/from the airport and downtown LA is available by advance reservation. Call 800-554-3146 in the U.S. or (310) 782-6600; fax (310) 337-1206.

Other Services. The West Side Center for Independent Living in Los Angeles can provide referrals and assistance to those requiring special equipment or information concerning transportation or accessibility of public facilities, including restaurants, city attractions, and recreational facilities. Telephone (310) 390-3911.

On-Site Requests. Registrants who did not make advance arrangements for services or equipment are requested to contact staff in the ASA Office in the San Pedro room at the Westin Bonaventure. Every reasonable effort will be made to assist registrants on-site. However, if you have a physical disability and need special services, equipment, or accommodations, and did not notify ASA in advance of your arrival at the meeting site, ASA may not be able to provide the proper services due to the limited availability of some equipment and services.

Airport Transportation

Taxi and shuttle services are available from both the Westin Bonaventure and the Los Angeles Hilton. Taxi fare is around $30+ per cab (one to four people) for the 17-mile, 20-30 minute trip to downtown LA. SuperShuttle provides a continuous transfer service between the airport and downtown hotels.

The shuttle fare is $12 each way; $2 discount coupons were sent to meeting registrants with their registration confirmations. Additional shuttle coupons are available at the ASA Information desk in the California Foyer at the Westin Bonaventure. Reservations are required 24 hours in advance for wheelchair accessible service to/from the airport.

Shuttle reservations may be made with the transportation desk in the lobby of the Westin Bonaventure; taxis and shuttles use the Figueroa Street entrance. A shuttle courtesy phone is available at the Seventh Street entrance of the Los Angeles Hilton, both taxis and shuttles use that entrance.

Attendees with mobility impairments who are flying in and out of Los Angeles are advised to notify their airline 24 hours before departure if they will need assistance in getting from their arrival gate to the baggage claim area. Airline and airport personnel will gladly assist any meeting attendee needing transportation assistance.

ASA Information

The ASA Information desk, located in the California Foyer at the Westin Bonaventure, is staffed with ASA Executive Office personnel who will be able to assist attendees who have questions about meeting events, activities, and accessibility resources. Information hours are 1:00-5:00 p.m. on Thursday, August 4. Hours on Friday-Tuesday, August 5-9 correspond to the On-Site Registration hours shown above.

ASA Office

The on-site ASA Office is situated in the San Pedro room at the Westin Bonaventure. It will be staffed from Thursday-Tuesday, August 4-9, with ASA Executive Office personnel. Office hours are 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. each day.

Cafe ASA

By popular demand, Cafe ASA returns to the Annual Meeting. Cafe ASA is a place to buy coffee, sodas, sandwiches, and light snacks, and a place to sit with friends and enjoy a quick bite to eat accompanied by lively conversation. The Cafe will be located in the Pasadena Room in the middle of the ASA Exhibits on Saturday-Monday, August 6-8. On August 5 and 9, "quick stop" vendor carts will be set up in the California Foyer adjacent to the registration area. Both locations are central to meeting activities. Plan to meet friends, transact business, sociology watch, or just rest your feet at this eatery/greeter.

Child Care

ASA is continuing the tradition of providing an innovative program of activities for children of Annual Meeting registrants. Arrangements have been made with KiddieCorp to offer a full child care program from 8:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on August 5-9 for children between the ages of 6 months to 12 years. Evening care must be arranged on an individual basis with Kiddie Corp personnel or local babysitting agencies.

KiddieCorp is dedicated to providing quality child care services across the nation for meeting attendees. Staffing is based on a 1:2 ratio for children 6 months to 1 year, 1:3 ratio for children 1-2 years of age, and a 1:5 ratio for children 3-12 years of age. The program includes a customized hourly schedule of creative and educational activities, age-appropriate toys and games, popular arts and crafts projects, and child-pleasing movies and cartoon videos. The 1993 ASA-sponsored child care program was also operated by KiddieCorp.

Fees remain the same as in previous years: $25 pre-registration fee per child; $25 per day usage fee per child. Fees include on-site activities and snacks; lunch is not included but meal arrangements can be made through KiddieCorp. Parents/guardians using these services must be registrants for the Annual Meeting.

Please check at ASA Information for the room number of the ASA Child Care Suite.

City and Restaurant Information

The Los Angeles Convention & Visitors Bureau is providing information on local restaurants that are members of the Bureau and assistance in making reservations as well as brochures on attractions in the Los Angeles area. The City and Restaurant Information desk will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Friday-Monday, August 5-8, in the California Foyer adjacent to ASA Information.

Comfort Zone

Attendees coping with illness or lack of stamina may use the small meeting rooms set aside as "comfort zones" at each hotel to escape briefly from the noise and bustle of meeting activities. This space is being provided in response to concerns brought to the ASA Council by the Sociologists' AIDS Network and the Sociologists' Lesbian and Gay Caucus.

Los Angeles Hilton Comfort Zone: Rexford Room
Westin Bonaventure Comfort Zone: La Brea Room

Anyone needing immediate medical attention may contact the ASA Office and hotel personnel by picking up the nearest house phone.

Editors' Table

Again this year the ASA is sponsoring a table in the Membership and Publications Center where prospective authors can meet with the editors of ASA journals and the Rose Monograph Series to discuss submission of articles or monographs. The table will be staffed at various times by ASA editors, deputy editors, and other staff. The display table will have available sample copies of ASA journals, submission guidelines and addresses, mission statements, and other information of interest to prospective authors. The schedule for the Editors' Table is shown below. If there are any changes to the published schedule, a revised schedule will be posted at the table.

Friday, August 5:

9:00-10:00 a.m.—Dan Clawson, Editor-Elect, Contemporary Sociology

10:00 a.m.-12:00 noon—Edward Lawler, Editor, Social Psychology Quarterly

12:00 noon-2:00 p.m.—Judith Blau, Editor, Rose Monograph Series

4:00-5:00 p.m.—Julia Wrigley, Editor, Sociology of Education

Sunday, August 7:

9:00-10:00 a.m.—Melissa Herbert, Editorial Assistant, American Sociological Review

10:00-11:00 a.m.—Dan Jones, Editorial Assistant, American Sociological Review

2:00-3:00 p.m.—Linda Markowitz, Student Editor, Contemporary Sociology

Monday, August 8:

9:00-10:00 a.m.—Paula England, Editor, American Sociological Review

Exhibits

The 1994 ASA Exhibits highlight the middle days of this year's Annual Meeting. Located in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall at the Westin Bonaventure, ASA Exhibits will be open to meeting registrants from 9:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Saturday-Monday, August 6-8.

The location of the Exhibits offers excellent accessibility by meeting attendees, due to its close proximity to ASA On-Site Registration and the ASA Member Services and Publications Center. Cafe ASA, one of the highlights of previous meetings, will make a reappearance in the middle of the exhibit area once it has opened.

Meeting attendees are encouraged to schedule several visits to the exhibit area so that ample time can be given to leisurely exploring the many offerings. Browse through the latest sociological publications, explore current computer hardware and software, chat with representatives of statistical and informational literature and services, meet with colleagues participating in the Poster Sessions adjacent to the exhibit area, and enjoy Cafe ASA.

See the Directory of Exhibitors elsewhere in this Program for names and booth numbers of all exhibitors. Don't forget to look through the Program for special ads!

All persons wishing access to ASA Exhibits must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Locator File and Message Center

All attendees are invited to fill out a "locator card" when picking up their meeting registration packets. These cards will then be made available at the ASA Information Desk during the meeting to help colleagues contact each other while in the Los Angeles area. A Message Center will facilitate the exchange of messages between meeting attendees from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. each meeting day.

Employment Service

The 1994 Employment Service will be open at the Los Angeles Hilton on Thursday, August 4, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., and Friday-Monday, August 5-8, from 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. The service will not be open on Tuesday, August 9.

Anyone using this Service, whether as Candidate or Employer, must register for the Annual Meeting as well as with the Employment Service. Once registered, you will be issued a pass permitting your entrance to the Service any time it is open. No one will be admitted without a pass; no browsing by non-registered attendees is permitted.

Fees for use of the Employment Service are $85 for Employers, $30 for Candidates who are not members of ASA, and $15 for Candidates who are ASA members. All employer listings must be prepaid (a valid purchase order will be accepted); post-meeting billing is not available. Candidates must pay by the time they activate their files.

Facilities are available at the Hilton for reviewing employment listings, exchanging messages, and initiating introductory interviews. Position listings supplied by preregistered employers will be available for viewing when the Service opens on Thursday afternoon, August 4. Listings supplied by employers who register on-site will be posted as the listings are received and processed.

Forms for listing positions (Employer Forms) and applications for individuals (Candidate Profile Forms) were printed in the Preliminary Program and the Employment Bulletin. Extra copies of these forms are available in the Employment Service Registration areas for those unable to preregister.

Employment Service Candidates should report to the Garden East room in the Los Angeles Hilton as soon as possible after arrival in Los Angeles to activate candidate profiles. For those unable to preregister, it is recommended that you visit the Employment Service as early as possible upon arriving in Los Angeles in order to start the required processing.

Representatives from organizations that are listing positions with the Employment Service should check in at Employer Registration in the Garden West room in the Los Angeles Hilton to begin the candidate profile review and interview scheduling processes.

Candidate profiles are not supplied to employers until the candidate files have been activated on-site. Since employers need some time to review the files, there will be a time lag between activation of a candidate file and the scheduling of interviews. Because of that processing and review time, those intending to make full use of the Service should register and activate their files/listings by 5:30 p.m. on Friday, August 5. No candidate files will be activated on the last day (Monday, August 8) of Employment Service operations.

To facilitate interview appointments, an Employment Service phone link will be established between the two meeting hotels (Hilton and Westin). Service users attending meeting events at the Westin will be able to call the service directly to check on recent developments and new appointments. This Service phone will be located at the ASA Information booth in the California Foyer at the Westin Bonaventure.

During the Annual Meeting in Miami Beach last year, 62 employers listed 84 openings, including 10 positions outside academia, and 292 candidates registered with the Service. Nearly 900 interviews were scheduled.

Media Office

Media representatives are invited to check in at the ASA Media Office for registration packets and interview assistance. The Media Office is located in the Los Feliz room at the Westin Bonaventure. Office hours are 1:00-5:00 p.m. on Thursday, August 4; 8:00 a.m.-5:30 a.m. on Friday-Monday, August 5-8; and 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, August 9.

Meeting attendees are encouraged to stop by the Media Office and provide information on their availability to discuss their work with the media while in Los Angeles.

Membership and Publications Center

Information on ASA membership, sections, subscriptions, and publications will be provided in the Membership and Publications Center in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall at the Westin Bonaventure. The Center will be staffed by ASA Executive Office and open during the same hours as ASA On-Site Registration.

Limited quantities of all ASA publications will be available for inspection and purchase at the display tables. Price lists and order forms may be used when inventory is sold out or attendees wish to have materials shipped rather than carrying copies with them.

Browse through the display tables to review current career publications, syllabi sets, sociological practice materials, recent journal issues, indexes, teaching resources, departmental guides and directories, minority fellowship application information, ethics code, section newsletters, and many other publications. Plan to take a copy of the latest catalogues home for further consideration!

Paper Sales

All session papers which were submitted to the Executive Office by July 1 will be available in ASA Paper Sales in the San Gabriel room at the Westin Bonaventure beginning Thursday, August 4. Paper Sales service hours are the same as ASA On-Site Registration.

Check the list of "Available Papers" in your program packet for information on expected availability. Authors who indicated that they would bring copies with them to the Annual Meeting are urged to deliver them to Paper Sales as soon as possible.

Meeting registrants may purchase papers for $3.00 each; these fees go toward covering shipping and service setup costs. Papers may be purchased as long as supplies last; orders for future delivery cannot be accepted. Authors must be contacted directly if copies of papers are not available in the Paper Sales Room nor accessible through the Sociological Abstracts Document Delivery Service. To facilitate communication with authors, the ASA Executive Office has compiled a Roster of Authors with mailing addresses which may be purchased either at the meeting or from the Executive Office after the meeting.

Copies of papers will not be available from ASA following the Annual Meeting. The Executive Office is not able to return unsold copies of papers to individual authors; however, authors may pick up any remaining copies of their own papers after 1:00 p.m. on Tuesday, August 9.

Copies of some papers may remain at the end of the meeting. Any institution wishing to obtain some of these should contact the ASA Office during the meeting.

All persons wishing access to the Paper Sales area must be paid registrants for the Annual Meeting; badges are required for entrance into this area.

Section Information

Looking for information about 33 active ASA Sections, two sections-in-formation, two potential sections-in-formation, or copies of 1994 section newsletters? Check at the Sections Display Table in the Membership and Publications Center located in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall at the Westin Bonaventure.

Sections have been invited to designate representatives to attend the display table during each meeting day. Representatives will also be present at the Welcoming and Orientation Party on Friday, August 5, 6:30-8:00 p.m. in the San Diego Room at the Westin Bonaventure.

Tickets

Registrants already enrolled for didactic seminars, LA tours, and special events should have received tickets with their meeting packets. Those who did not make advance reservations may check at the ASA Tickets counter in the Pasadena Exhibit Hall at the Westin Bonaventure for ticket availability.

Event tickets are non-refundable and cancellations cannot be accepted. You may, however, sell your ticket to someone else if you are unable to attend.

46. Professional Workshop. Dilemmas of Graduate Student InstructorsWestin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Teresa A. Sullivan, University of Texas, Austin

Jana M. Walters, University of Texas, Austin

Margaret Greer, Ohio State University

The goal of this workshop is to help graduate students explore the dilemmas of status, authority, and working conditions that they often face when serving as the instructors of record for undergraduate courses. This workshop is intended to be especially helpful for teaching assistants, supervisors of teaching assistants, and faculty who offer courses to train teaching assistants.

47. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Sociology of EmotionsWestin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Patricia Wasielewski, University of Redlands

Arlie Hochschild, University of California, Berkeley

The objective of this workshop is to share ideas about teaching courses in the sociology of emotions and how to integrate teaching about emotion in other classes. Part of the workshop will focus on discussing syllabi, assignments and formats for seminars in emotion. The other part of the workshop will be devoted to generating ideas of how the topic of emotion may be used to convey basic sociological ideas in other classes such as research methods, family, and social psychology.

48. Teaching Workshop. Faculty Roles and RewardsWestin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara B

Organizer: Carla B. Howery, American Sociological Association

Panel: Robert Davis, North Carolina A&T University

Ernestine Thompson, Augusta College

Eugene Rice, American Association for Higher Education

Following books by Ernest Boyer (Scholarship Reconsidered) and Eugene Rice (The New American Professoriate), sociologists are joining in a national conversation on broadening the definition of their professional and scholarly work. Old conceptions of scholarship do not seem to capture the contributions sociologists are making in teaching and practice, in serving as expert witnesses, community researchers, editors, mentors, consultants, media sources, and so forth.

One issue underlying greater recognition of a range of work is the measurement and evaluation of that work. What mechanism can be established to approximate the peer review system that effectively assesses publishable research? If these tools are developed, which factors will help or hinder their acceptance? How do institutional mission and departmental goals come into play?

This workshop will discuss the dimensions of this national conversation on faculty roles and rewards. In particular, we will focus on ways to measure teaching effectiveness and other academic-teaching types of professional work (e.g., advising, textbook writing).

64. Didactic Seminar. Contextual Effects

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Ticket required for admission

William M. Mason, University of California, Los Angeles

In the past decade the analysis of contextual effects has come to mean primarily multilevel analysis. This didactic seminar exposit multilevel analysis, describes software, and presents examples with computer output. In addition, the seminar considers issues in multilevel analysis, including selectivity and endogeneity, and addresses the question whether contextual analysis and multilevel analysis should be treated as synonymous. Participants should have a working knowledge of regression-like models (e.g., classical least squares with gaussian errors, and logistic regression for binary response).

65. Professional Workshop. Participatory Research

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Organizer: Francesca M. Cancian, University of California, Irvine

President: Nancy Naples, University of California, Irvine

Panel: John Gaventa, University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Randy Stoecker, University of Toledo

Francesca M. Cancian, University of California, Irvine

Participatory researchers combine research with education and social change, and share power over the research with community members. We will present examples of participatory research and critique alternative approaches. Then participants will divide into subgroups for discussion or to design a participatory research project.

66. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Introductory Sociology for the First Time

Los Angeles Hilton, Westwood

Anne Martin, Edmonds Community College

William G. Roy, University of California, Los Angeles

Although the primary audience is those teaching introductory sociology for the first time, the session is aimed at experienced as well as more novice teachers. Participants will receive handouts such as text reviews, bibliographies, ASA resources, sample assignments, etc.

In the workshop, we will explore issues embedded in questions such as: (1) Is the course to be a broad survey or a study in depth? (2) Do we focus on teaching about sociology or about society? Who is our audience? (3) Can we really teach "the sociological perspective?" How? (4) Will a text be used? What is available? Will a selection of books and articles be used? (5) Should we use independent and collaborative learning? (6) How can we constructively manage conflict in the classroom? What are "teachable moments?" (7) Why and how are we grading? For ranking? For mastery? Can assessment foster good teaching and learning? (8) How can I integrate assignments and class activities into course goals? (9) Can we adapt our teaching to different ways of learning? (10) How do we respond to classrooms full or absent of diversity? (11) How might we integrate general education outcomes such as writing or critical thinking into the course? (12) How can I balance all my obligations, do them well, and survive? Can I teach from my strengths? From my heart?

Many sociologists work in the private and non-profit sectors in corporations, businesses, research firms, think tanks, consulting firms, and agencies. They bring sociological perspectives and methods into creative research and organizational projects. Panelists will discuss the nature of their work and how to find, advance in, and grow with careers in these settings. Sociologists in corporate and non-profit positions with experiences to share, department chairs, and graduate advisors are encouraged to join in the exchange of ideas.

139. Professional Workshop. The Sociology GRE: Some New DevelopmentsWestin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Richard H. Hall, State University of New York, Albany
Phyllis Teitelbaum, Educational Testing Service
Pamela K. Smith, Educational Testing Service

The goal of this workshop is to introduce some new developments in the GRE Sociology test. The major new development is a new format for some questions. This new format, "Sociological Reasoning: Excerpt-based Questions," is based on excerpts from major journals in the field, with 4-6 questions based on each excerpt. The intent is to test the extent to which the test takers can think like sociologists. The second development is the identification of "external degree candidates" as an important category of the GRE Sociology test takers. These individuals use the test to earn up to 30 credits in sociology. They also score much lower and bring down the overall average score. The new item format should help graduate departments in their admissions and aid decisions. At the same time, if the external degree candidates were to be eliminated, the number of test takers in sociology might sink to a point at which ETS would have to suspend the GRE Sociology test. The symbolic importance of this possibility will be discussed.

140. Teaching Workshop. Teaching the Sociology of HIV/AIDSWestin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Hugh Klein, NOVA Research Company
Rose Weitz, Arizona State University

This workshop is aimed at faculty who would like to teach or get new ideas for teaching a course on the sociology of AIDS/HIV. The workshop will begin with a discussion of teaching goals. The facilitators will then describe their experiences with the problems of teaching in this area and strategies for combating those problems. Finally, the facilitators will provide examples of assignments, materials, and other resources for teaching this course.

141. Community Forum. What Can Sociologists/Academics Do to Support the Labor Movement?Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara BOrganizer and Presider: Edna Bonacich, University of California, RiversidePanel: Edna Bonacich, University of California, Riverside and International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU)Elizabeth McLean Petras, Drexel University*Peter Olney*, Los Angeles Manufacturing Action Project (LAMP)Ernesto Medrano, Special Representative, International Association of Machinists (IAM)Macario Camorlina, President and Chief Steward, IAM Lodge 1910*Rocio Saenz*, International Organizers for Justice for Janitors, Service Employees International Union (SEIU)Kim Geron, Executive Board, Hotel Employees and Restaurant Employees (HERE), Local 11

The idea of this session is to have a discussion of the ways in which academics can use their knowledge and skills to support labor organizing. We will hear from labor activists and workers about what they think academics can do in support of their efforts. For example, what kinds of sociological research do they need? And we will hear from academics about what they believe they have to offer. The format will consist of a brief opening statement by each participant, followed by an open discussion between the panelists and with the audience.

153. Special Poster Session. Opportunities for Research Support (to 4:30 p.m.)

Westin Bonaventure, Pasadena Exhibit Hall

Organizers: Felice J. Levine and Paula Trubisky, American Sociological Association

Join us anytime between 1:30-4:30 p.m. to explore research funding and other resources available from a variety of public and private organizations. Representatives of major institutions that provide research funding and infrastructural support for the social sciences will be on hand at each display to discuss such issues as: funding for research and research related activities, data bases available for secondary analysis, and the impact of federal science policy on social science research and development. This is an opportunity for you to speak one-on-one with representatives about funding priorities, application procedures and review processes, elements of a competitive research proposal, and more. Advocates of the social science research community will also be on hand to discuss: how the needs and interests of social science researchers are represented to policymakers, how federal policies affect R&D in the social sciences, and how to communicate with Congressional leaders. For detailed information on participating agencies, see next box and page 132.

218. Professional Workshop. Mathematical Sociology

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Organizer and Presider: John Angle, Economic Research Service

We will plan a Mathematical Sociology Section of ASA and a bulletin board/discussion line to support your work in mathematical sociology. These will provide news, ideas, collegial encouragement, help with math, a soap box, and a market for collaborations, grants, consultancies, and jobs. There is a buzz about models from statistical physics and progress in mathematical sociology. The buzz gets intense at this workshop. We need your help. Vive Auguste Comte!

Working Group: John Angle, Economic Research Service; Phillip Bonacich, University of California, Los Angeles; Sharlene Hesse-Biber, Boston College; Chanoch Jacobsen, Israel Institute of Technology, Haifa; Guillermina Jasso, New York University; Ronald Schoenberg, University of Washington; John Skvoretz, University of South Carolina; *Franz N. Los Angeles Hilton, Westwood

Ramon S. Torrecilha, ASA Minority Affairs Program Director

Elizabeth Schuster, ASA Research Assistant

The panel of ASA Research Program staff will report on recent surveys of departments and members, focused on five questions: What do we know about the pipeline of minority students into sociology? What do we know about the range of work sociologists do? What do we know about the patterns of enrollments? What do we know about faculty "lines" and departmental resources (across a variety of institutional types)? What do members consider the pressing challenges facing sociology? The data brought to bear on each question links with current ASA programs which the staff will discuss. Join this workshop to learn more about the research program and the other ASA programs and initiatives.

Monday, August 87:00 a.m. Plenary*265. Plenary Open Forum. ASA Business Meeting Westin Bonaventure, San Diego

All ASA members are invited to meet ASA Council members at this "early bird" open forum, with continental breakfast provided as an additional incentive.

The agenda will have two main parts of equal length: First, there will be a discussion of the suggested procedures for member resolutions, and the issues raised by them. To facilitate discussion, a handout of the business meeting agenda is included in every program packet. Second, there will be an open forum in which members can bring up any questions or concerns that they have. A discussion of "Changing Gender Composition in Sociology: Politics and Possibilities," proposed by the ASA Committee on the Status of Women in Sociology, will open this portion of the meeting. See the agenda handout for more information.

Take advantage of this opportunity to talk with those responsible for decision-making in the Association and actively participate in the morning discussions.

8:00 a.m. Sessions266. Teaching Workshop. Developing Critical Thinking Skills and College-Preparedness in High School Students through Sociological Research (to 12:15 p.m.)*Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Robert Gilbert, Palatine High School
Donna Wendel, Bachrodt School
Barbara Karcher, Kennesaw State College
Earl Babbie, Chapman University
Keith Roberts, Hanover College
Charles Jaret, Georgia State University

This workshop is intended for high school teachers and administrators, as well as college faculty concerned about interfacing with those who prepare students for college. Topics include a high school capstone course preparing students for college through empirical research and critical thinking, core sociological concepts, simulation games for teaching social concepts, developing critical thinking sequentially from K-12 and in college through sociological concepts and active learning exercises, and a student-published magazine involving sociological analysis.

 Sociology professors will explore the keys to being competitive in the academic job market, pursuing job openings, and interviewing for academic positions. Panelists will discuss the nature of their work and how to find, advance in, and grow with careers in a range of academic settings. Faculty with experience in the academic search and/or hiring, department chairs and graduate advisors are encouraged to join the exchange of ideas.

271. Teaching Workshop. Teaching Sociology with a Life Course PerspectiveWestin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara C

Phyllis Moen, Cornell University
Timothy J. Owens, Indiana University, Indianapolis
 The goal of this workshop is to help instructors teach life course concepts by having students write their life histories or construct their "lifelines." We will focus on how such personal histories can be used to teach about (a) how early experiences shape people's lives, (b) how historical events influence lives, and (c) the effect of life course contexts and transitions on social and psychological outcomes. Participants should be prepared to participate in some short exercises and demonstrations.

306. Didactic Seminar. Sequence Analysis

Westin Bonaventure, Santa Barbara A

Ticket required for admission

Andrew Abbott, University of Chicago

This seminar discusses new techniques for finding and studying regular patterns in sequence data. Examples of such data include life course patterns, occupational careers, organizational histories, and other such ordered lists of events.
 The patterns sought include typical histories, turning points, common subpatterns, and other such ordered regularities. The techniques involved are simple dynamic minimization algorithms that can be understood by any sociologist who understands standard methods. Advanced mathematics is not required. Several examples will be considered. A simple software package will be used for illustration and distributed to participants.

Organizer and Presider: Ann Goetting, Western Kentucky University

Panel: William Bielby, University of California, Santa Barbara
Lee H. Bowker, Humboldt State University

Richard J. Gelles, University of Rhode Island

Ann Goetting, Western Kentucky University

This workshop will focus on the sociologist as expert witness. William Bielby will relate experiences as an expert witness for plaintiffs in class action gender discrimination cases where he has challenged the research methodology of research surveys purporting to show that women are not interested in male-dominated jobs. Lee Bowker and Ann Goetting will discuss considerations for the committed feminist in the context of expert witnessing for battered women who kill their abusers. Richard Gelles will expand expert witnessing concerns to include other forms of family violence. The workshop will review the "expertise" that sociologists can bring to bear, the limitations of the expertise, and practical advice on the issues involved in expert testimony.

Minority Fellowship Program Fellows

The following MFP Fellows are participating in this year's Annual Meeting Program. ASA and the 1994 Program Committee are pleased to highlight these professional activities of current and former Fellows. The Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), in operation since 1974, has been a significant factor in recruiting minorities into sociology. Fellows continue to make important contributions to the growth of the discipline. The Association takes great satisfaction in acknowledging this form of professional activity.

SPECIAL POSTER SESSION OPPORTUNITIES FOR RESEARCH SUPPORT

President: Felice J. Levine, ASA
Organizers: Felice J. Levine and Paula Trubisky, ASA
Saturday, August 6 ♦ 1:30 - 4:30 p.m.
Pasadena Exhibit Hall (next to ASA services and publications)

Join us anytime between 1:30 - 4:30 p.m. to explore research funding and other resources available from a variety of public and private organizations. Representatives of major institutions that provide research funding and infrastructural support for the social sciences will be on hand at each display to discuss such issues as: funding for research and research related activities, data bases available for secondary analysis, and the impact of federal science policy on social science research and development. This is an opportunity for you to speak one-on-one with representatives about funding priorities, application procedures and review processes, elements of a competitive research proposal, and more. Advocates of the social science research community will also be on hand to discuss: how the needs and interests of social science researchers are represented to policymakers, how federal policies affect R&D in the social sciences, and how to communicate with Congressional leaders.

1. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE (NIJ)

Criminal Justice Research and Evaluation

Presenter: Christy A. Visher, National Institute of Justice, 633 Indiana Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20531 (202) 307-0694.

NIJ supports research, development, evaluation, and dissemination programs designed to improve the criminal justice system. Priority is given to policy-relevant research that can yield approaches and information for state and local agencies' use in preventing and reducing crime. NIJ's Program Plan is published annually and solicits proposals in five broad areas--Violence, Drug and Alcohol-related Crimes, Crime Prevention, Consequences of Crime, and Effectiveness of System Responses. In addition, support is available through visiting fellowships, graduate research fellowships, and small awards for pilot projects and secondary data analysis. Information and announcements can be obtained from the National Criminal Justice Reference Service. Call 1-800 851-3420 to become a registered user and receive free documents.

2. NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

Directorate for Education and Human Resources

Presenter: Larry Suter, Director, Office of Studies and Assessment, 4201 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22230 (703) 306-1656.

The Indicators Program seeks statistical information about the health of the nation's science, mathematics, engineering, and technology (SME) education. It measures educational achievements of the nation's education system. This year, it will produce a biennial indicators report on national and international trends. Research funded through this program assesses: SME achievement trends in the U.S. and other nations at pre-college and higher levels; student participation trends in both pre-college and higher SME education; educational quality, such as teacher qualifications, instructional time, course content, and learning methods; and measurements of both conceptual knowledge and problem-solving skills.

3. NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

Directorate for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences (SBER)

Presenter: William Sims Bainbridge, Director, Sociology Program, 4201 Wilson Blvd. Arlington, VA 22230 (703) 306-1756.

The Directorate for Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences is the single most identifiable federal source of support for basic research in the social sciences. Social science research is primarily supported in the Division of Social, Behavioral and Economic Research where sociology is located. The Division consists of five program clusters: Anthropological and Geographic Sciences; Cognitive, Psychological and Language Sciences; Economic, Decision and Management Sciences; Social and Political Sciences (including Sociology); and Science, Technology and Society. It supports disciplinary and multidisciplinary research, data collection, and measurement and methodological research. Its goal is to develop basic scientific knowledge of social, behavioral and economic systems, organizations and institutions, and human interaction and decision making. SBER also provides support for research conferences, doctoral dissertation research, group international travel, and data resource development.

4. UNITED STATES HOLOCAUST RESEARCH INSTITUTE

The Scholarly Division of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum

Presenter: Wesley A. Fisher, Deputy Director, Research Institute, 100 Raoul Wallenberg Place, SW (202) 488-6115

The United States Holocaust Research Institute is the scholarly division of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. Founded in December, 1993, its mission is to serve as an international resource for the development of research on the Holocaust and related issues, including those of contemporary significance. The Institute fosters research in Holocaust and Genocide studies, broadly defined. Fields of inquiry include, but are not limited to: historiography and documentation of the Holocaust; ethics and the Holocaust; comparative genocide studies; and the impact of the Holocaust on contemporary society and culture. Other areas of concern include refuge and rescue, and propaganda and mass media as they relate to genocide.

5. AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

Presenter: Doug Bennett, Vice President, 228 East 45th Street, New York, NY 10017-3398 (212) 697-1505 x133.

ACLS supports research in the humanities and humanistic aspects of the social sciences through awards to individual scholars. Of the five ACLS programs, the general Fellowship/Grant-in-Aid helps make it possible for scholars to devote two to twelve continuous months to research. In addition, ACLS jointly sponsors several programs concerned with encouraging social science and humanistic research on specific countries or regions of the world. ACLS also administers Fulbright grants for advanced research or university lecturing abroad in nearly 135 countries.

6. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Office of Research

Presenter: Joseph Conaty, Acting Director, Room 610 Capitol Place, 555 New Jersey Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20208 (202) 219-2079.

Through support of basic and applied research, evaluations, and analyses, the Office of Research serves parents, teachers and school administrators, and policymakers at local, state, and federal levels. Its four divisions are Learning and Instruction, Schools and School Professionals, Higher Education and Adult Learning, and Education and Society. A major function of the Office of Research is to fund and coordinate research carried out by 20 national educational research and development centers based in universities across the country. In addition, OR supports field-initiated research projects and intramural research. Of particular interest is the Field-Initiated Studies that encourages individuals and groups to pursue research clearly relevant to national education concerns and issues.

7. U.S. CENSUS BUREAU

Department Of Commerce

Presenter: Manuel de la Puente, Sociologist, CSMR Washington Plaza Building, Room 433, Washington, DC 20233-4700 (301) 763-1447.

The Census Bureau funds research through contracts with social research firms and is a key source of statistical data for social science research. Additionally, it provides opportunities for research within the Census Bureau through its ASA/NSF/Census Research Fellow Program. Other opportunities for research include Intergovernmental Personnel Assignments, commonly referred to as IPAs.

8. AMERICAN SOCIOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION

Minority Fellowship Program (MFP)

Presenter: Dana Y. Takagi, Chair, Minority Fellowship Advisory Committee, University of California, Santa Cruz. For further information contact: Ramon Torrecilha, Director of Minority Affairs, American Sociological Association, 1722 N Street, NW, Washington, DC 20036 (202) 833-3410.

Through its Minority Fellowship Program (MFP), the American Sociological Association supports the development and training of minority sociologists in mental health. Funded by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), the MFP seeks to attract talented minority students interested in mental health issues and to facilitate their placement, work, and success in an appropriate graduate program. In addition to providing financial support, the MFP works with Fellows and their faculty advisors at the Fellow's home departments to help prepare the Fellow for a career in the sociology of mental health. Also, MFP plans symposia sessions at scholarly meetings, offers travel support to scientific conferences and fosters the development of formal and informal networks for Fellows.

9. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF MENTAL HEALTH (NIMH)

Division of Epidemiology and Service Research

Presenter: Ann A. Hohmann, Chief, Methods Development Programs, Services Research Branch, Division of Epidemiology and Services Research, NIMH, 5600 Fishers Lane, Room 10C-06, Rockville, MD 20857 (301) 443-4045.

NIMH supports and conducts research and research training in the following areas: the etiology, genetics, prevention, treatment, and clinical course of mental disorders; clinical mental health services and service systems research; psychiatric epidemiology; assessment and classification of mental disorders; violence and traumatic stress; law and mental health; and health and behavior.

10. SCHOLARS IN HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH PROGRAM

Presenter: Eileen Connor, Deputy Director, National Program Office, The Heller School, Brandeis University, P.O. Box 9110, Waltham, MA 02254-9110 (617) 736-3846.

The Scholars in Health Policy Research Program, a national program sponsored by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, is intended to foster the development of creative thinkers and problem solvers in health policy. The Program provides recent graduates of doctoral programs in economics, political science, and sociology, with a unique and challenging two-year experience in both academic and applied policy research environments. Up to 12 Scholars will be selected annually to undertake training at one of three nationally prominent institutions--the University of California at Berkeley (in collaboration with the University of California at San Francisco); The University of Michigan; and Yale University. There they will have the opportunity to work closely with faculty from the social sciences -- as well as from medicine, public health, and public policy -- in an environment conducive to multidisciplinary learning and collaborative research. Scholars will have access to the full range of university resources.

11. ROBERT WOOD JOHNSON FOUNDATION

Presenter: Eileen Connor, Scholars in Health Policy Research Program. For further information contact: Beth Steven, Ph.D., Senior Program Officer, P.O. Box 2316, Princeton, NJ 08543 (609) 452-8701.

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation is the largest philanthropy in the United States devoted to health care, awarding approximately $160 million dollars per year in grants. The Foundation funds research to further four goals: to assure that all Americans have access to health care; to improve the organization of care to the chronically ill; to reduce substance abuse; and to help the nation deal with escalating health expenditures.

12. ASPEN INSTITUTE NONPROFIT SECTOR RESEARCH FUND

Presenter: Jeanne Harrah, California Program Coordinator

The Aspen Institute's Nonprofit Sector Research Fund (NSRF) supports studies by researchers and nonprofit organizations in nine major areas of interest. Among these areas are democracy, including public participation and civil society; advocacy, including the impact of the nonprofit and voluntary sector on the public agenda; and, philanthropy, including the relationship between philanthropy and societal needs. The NSRF makes grants from $2,000 - $50,000, and especially encourages research collaboration between scholars and hands on nonprofit staff, communities and university departments. The NSRF and its grantmaking is intended to develop an information, research, and educational base, and be widely disseminated so that university departments, governments, organizations, and the public and media begin to recognize the scope and importance of the nonprofit sector in our society and others.

13. CENTER FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION National Center for Health Statistics

Presenter: Audrey Burwell, Grants Coordinator, Room 1100, Presidential Building, 6525 Belcrest Road, Hyattsville, MD 20782 (301) 436-7062.

NCHS, the Federal Government's principal vital and health statistics agency, maintains data systems covering the full spectrum of concerns in the health field from birth to death, including overall health status, lifestyle and exposure to unhealthy influences, the onset and diagnosis of illness and disability, and the use of health care. Provisions of the Disadvantaged Minority Health Improvement Act mandates NCHS to improve the availability of racial and ethnic health data from national vital statistics and surveys and establish a grants program to support the understanding of health of the nation's minority population and sub-populations.

14. CONSORTIUM OF SOCIAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATIONS (COSSA)

Presenter: Susan Persons, Associate Director for Government Affairs, 1522 K Street, NW, Suite 836, Washington, DC 20005 (202) 842-3525.

The Consortium of Social Science Associations is an advocacy organization. Supported by more than 90 professional societies and academic and research institutions, COSSA acts as a bridge between researchers and policymakers representing the needs and interests of social and behavioral scientists; educating federal officials about social and behavioral science; informing the science community about relevant federal policies; and cooperating with other science and education groups in pursuit of common goals.

15. COUNCIL OF PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATIONS ON FEDERAL STATISTICS (COPAFS)

Presenter: Susan Persons, COSSA. For further information contact: Edward J. Spar, Executive Director, 1429 Duke Street, Suite 402, Alexandria, VA 22314 (703) 836-0404.

COPAFS' major role is to act as an advocate for the development and dissemination of high-quality federal statistics. Through COPAFS, members have an opportunity to review and have an impact on issues including timeliness, quality, confidentiality, and relevance. One of the major goals is to make members of the federal statistical agencies aware of the needs of data users. COPAFS identifies areas where improvements are needed in federal statistical programs and suggests strategies to bring about these improvements.

16. NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

Division of Research Grants

Presenter: Bob Weller, Scientific Review Administrator, Building AW, Room 307, 5333 Westbard Avenue, Bethesda, MD 20892 (301) 594-7340.

NIH study sections provide the critical first review and evaluation of the scientific merit of research grant applications. This poster session will explain the steps of the NIH review process and procedures, review study section activities, and examine criteria for writing a successful proposal. The Division for Research Grants is a service division of NIH that provides peer review for the various institutes and centers which comprise NIH.

17. NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON AGING (NIA)

Behavioral and Social Research

Presenter: Katrina W. Johnson, Health Scientist Administrator, Gateway Bldg., 533, 7201 Wisconsin Avenue, Bethesda, MD 20892 (301) 496-3136.

The National Institute on Aging supports a wide variety of qualitative and quantitative sociological research and training related to aging processes, the relationship between the aging population and social institutions (including the health care system), and the impact on society of the changing age composition. Opportunities and options for Federal funding of aging research will be available. Of particular interest is the potential for sociological contributions to issues of women and minorities in later life.

18. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF CHILD HEALTH & HUMAN DEVELOPMENT (NICHD)

Demographic and Behavioral Sciences Branch

Presenter: Nancy Moss, Expert Sociologist, Room B13, 6100 Executive Blvd., Bethesda, MD 20892 (301) 496-1174.

NICHD, through its Center for Population Research, is the nation's largest funder of behavioral and social science research. Program areas of interest include family and household structure and their relationship to children's well-being; fertility and contraceptive behavior; the relation of demographic factors to labor markets and labor force participation; population distribution and immigration; residential segregation; social factors in mortality, especially infant mortality and child health; and risk-taking behavior, especially in relation to sexuality and HIV/AIDS. The Center for Research on Mothers and Children also supports behavioral and social research in the areas of child development, mental retardation, and nutrition and growth. A new program, the National Center for Medical Rehabilitation Research, founded in 1991, supports work on the behavioral aspects of disability.

American Statistical Association, BLS sponsors a Senior Research Fellow and an Associate Program.

19. NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON DRUG ABUSE (NIDA)

Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research

Presenter: Anne Cattarello, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry, Center for Drug and Alcohol Abuse, University of Kentucky. For further information contact: Dr. William Bukoski, CoPrevention Research Branch, Rockwell II, Suite 615, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857 (301) 433-1514.

The National Institute on Drug Abuse, one of the 16 NIH Institutes, supports a wide range of research and training, and is a prominent source of funding in support of research on drug abuse, dependence, and addiction. Sociologists and other social scientists are actively involved in the research and training programs of many NIDA units, especially the Prevention Branch of the Division of Epidemiology and Prevention Research. NIDA prevention initiatives focus on high-risk groups such as runaways, school dropouts, adolescents showing psychiatric disturbance, unmarried pregnant women and parenting youth, juvenile delinquents, and women and men in the sex trade. NIDA research also includes examining the relationship between drug use and AIDS, tuberculosis, and other medical problems.

20. NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON ALCOHOL ABUSE AND ALCOHOLISM (NIAAA),

Prevention Research Branch

Presenter: Susan Martin, Health Scientist Administrator, Suite 505 Willco Building, 6000 Executive Blvd., Rockville, MD 20892 (301) 443-8767.

NIAAA supports basic and applied research related to the causes, consequences, treatment, and prevention of alcohol-related problems. Most social science research is funded through the Division of Clinical and Prevention Research and the Division of Biometry and Epidemiology. NIAAA also supports several alcohol research centers and an intramural research program. Research priorities include sociocultural and environmental determinants of drinking; safety, trauma, and alcohol-related performance; economic and socioeconomic issues in the prevention and treatment of alcohol problems; the prevention of alcohol-related problems in children, adolescents, and other at-risk populations; and alcohol-related health services studies.

21. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS)

Presenter: Polly Phipps, Social Science Research Analyst, Room 2850B, 2 Massachusetts Avenue, NE, Washington, DC 20212 (202) 606-5906.

The BLS collects and publishes statistics on the labor force, prices, compensation and working condition, productivity and technology and economic growth and employment projections. A special interest is currently being placed on research on revision of the occupation classification system and the impact of technology on organizations. It also funds data collection for the National Longitudinal Survey of Labor Market Experiences, as well as research projects using that data collection. In cooperation with the National Science Foundation and the

Confronting the issues that are shaping today's society

Assuring Child Support An Extension of Social Security

IRWIN GARFINKEL

"Americans may be ready for a more cooperative model of private and government partnership, and this book represents one influential approach. Garfinkel argues his case forcefully." —Contemporary Sociology. "Garfinkel has tackled an important subject with sharpness, clarity, and grace." —Eli Ginzberg, Society

Uneven Tides

Rising Inequality in America

SHELDON H. DANZIGER and PETER GOTTSCHALK, editors

"The rise in inequality is one of the big 'stories' of the 1980s, though not a very happy one. Its nature is still imperfectly known and the parsing out of blame is yet to be done. This volume takes a big step toward filling both gaps. The list of authors is outstanding. Read it. Then keep it on your bookshelf as a reference." —Alan S. Blinder

Latinos and the Underclass Debate

JOAN MOORE and RAQUEL PINDERHUGHES, editors

"These nine academic essays are a useful contribution to the often simplistic debate about urban poverty. Focusing on eight Latino communities, the contributors argue that Latino poverty differs, both in its causes and its expression, from inner-city black poverty."

National Institutes of Health

Do you know about the NIH's Educational Loan Repayment Program and our commitment to behavioral and social science research?

► The National Institutes of Health (NIH), the Federal Government's leading biomedical research center, offers an educational loan repayment program where HIV/AIDS researchers can receive repayment of qualified student loans of up to $20,000 per year (plus Federal tax of 39% of repayments made), in addition to attractive Federal salaries and benefits. Health professionals with a Ph.D., M.D., D.S.W., B.S.N., or equivalent degree are eligible to apply for loan repayment when they join our HIV/AIDS research team.

► NIH intramural AIDS-related behavioral and social science research activities focus on the assessment of behaviors and the development of interventions that may influence the transmission of HIV infection and HIV-related diseases. The NIH seeks to enhance the effectiveness of existing prevention and intervention strategies as well as the development of new behavioral strategies.

► Another goal of behavioral research at the NIH is to determine the manner in which individuals, their families, health care providers, and society perceive and respond to the challenges of the HIV/AIDS epidemic. The behavioral patterns of women, adolescents, minorities, and older populations are especially important.

► If you have expertise in behavioral research and are interested in HIV/AIDS research, consider joining the NIH and have a substantial portion of your educational debt repaid. Visit with an NIH representative in Booth 21 for information on the NIH's HIV/AIDS behavioral research program and the LRP, or call the LRP InfoLine, 24 hours-a-day at 800-528-7689.

This program is administered without regard to race, color, national origin, gender, disability, sexual orientation, age, or religion.

☞ NEW IN 1994 ☞

RELIGION IN CONTEMPORARY SOCIETY, Third Edition

by the late H. Paul Chalfant, Robert E. Beckley, West Texas State University, C. Eddie Palmer, University of Southwestern Louisiana

A sociological examination of the role of religion in American society from a contemporary and historical perspective. Covers the resurgence of fundamentalism; the rise of new religious movements; the decline in mainline religions; and religion and healthcare. The text avoids jargon, making accessible many theological and philosophical concepts that are used to discuss religion. New chapters cover gender, and racial and ethnic stratification.

August 1994 c. 385 pages paper

STATISTICS FOR SOCIAL DATA ANALYSIS,
Third Edition

by George W. Bohrnstedt, American Institutes for Research, Palo Alto, CA, and David Knoke, University of Minnesota

Intended for social statistics courses that emphasize multivariate relations from a General Linear Model approach. The text uses real data examples wherever possible. New chapters: nonlinear and logistic regression, log-linear models, and structural equation systems. Instructor's Manual and Data Sets available.

1994 604 pages casebound

UNDERSTANDING POPULATION CHANGE

by Charles B. Nam, Center for the Study of Population, Florida State University

UNDERSTANDING POPULATION CHANGE is a social sciences approach to population change, analyzing its consequences for families and households, educational and economic systems, religious and political systems, and the environment. Instructor's Manual available.

"Clear, expansive survey of the discipline and its basic concepts. It encourages readers to become critical thinkers . . . - Maria Wilson-Figueroa, Portland State University.

1994 500 pages casebound

AMERICAN ETHNICITY, Second Edition

by Joseph Hraba, Iowa State University

Examines race and ethnic relations in the United States in historical and theoretical context. Theories surveyed include assimilation, pluralism, conflict theory, and psychology of prejudice. Ethnic groups considered include African Americans; European Americans; Chinese and Japanese Americans; Korean, Filipino and Vietnamese Americans; Native Americans; and Cuban, Puerto Rican and Mexican Americans. Instructor's Manual available.

☞ 1995 TITLES ☞

MULTIPLE REGRESSION AND CAUSAL ANALYSIS

by McKee J. McClendon, Department of Sociology, University of Akron

Combines a detailed exposition of path analysis and causal modeling with a thorough introduction to multiple regression. Matrix algebra and calculus are not required. Numerous examples of special relevance to students in the social sciences are provided.

"The writing is superb - clear and straightforward . . . McClendon is obviously an expert, but his presentation is admirably suited for those who are not. His terminology is as simple as can be, and the meaning of each new term is clarified succinctly and clearly."
-Herbert L. Costner, University of Washington, in a prepublication review.

1995 c. 430 pages casebound

DEVIANCE AND CONTROL: Theory, Research, and Social Policy, Third Edition

by Craig B. Little, State University of New York, Cortland

Deviant behavior is analyzed from biological, psychological, social-psychological, and sociological perspectives. It advances the thesis that deviance in a society depends substantially on the society's organization. The chapters on specific behaviors accumulate evidence that most deviance is deeply embedded in the social and economic structures of our society. New topics: gangs; Savings and Loan fraud; the industrial catastrophes in Bhopal, India and Hamlet, North Carolina; and biogenetic explanations for homosexuality.

Mark Robert Rank

ISBN 0-231-08424-2 / 260 pages / $29.95 cloth

"Living on the Edge is thought-provoking and insightful. It provides an excellent account of the welfare system in the United States. It debunks many of the most commonly believed myths about welfare. It is an essential read for anyone interested in welfare reform."

—Pat Schroeder, Congresswoman

"Rank skillfully combines ethnographic and statistical methods to portray the stark realities of life among welfare recipients, whose daily lives are driven by a struggle to survive. . . . [He] marshal[s] hard evidence that dispels myths about the reproductive and work behavior of welfare recipients, and challenges popular beliefs about the chronicity of welfare dependence."

Globalizing forces are transforming American society...

(But you know that!)

The world is experiencing an accelerating rate of social, economic, political, and cultural globalization...

(Who hasn't noticed?)

The social implications of these processes are enormous...

(But do textbooks communicate this to your students?)

HarperCollins is proud to present the book that explores the relationship between globalizing forces and students' lives.

Stop by our booth (#68) to find out more about this intriguing text!

HarperCollins' 1995 Sociology List

Sociology

RICHARD P. APPELBAUM, University of California—Santa Barbara

WILLIAM J. CHAMBLISS, George Washington University

Globalization is the focal point of this comprehensive and exciting introductory text that explores the changes transforming American society.

Macrosociology

An Introduction to Human Societies, Third Edition

STEPHEN K. SANDERSON, Indiana University of Pennsylvania

Taking a comparative, historical, and evolutionary approach to examine the development of human societies, this third edition features the rise of modern capitalism, economic and political changes in the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, and four new Special Topic sections.

Marriages and Families in a Diverse Society

ROBIN WOLF, Diablo Valley College

Balancing a societal overview with an analysis of interpersonal relationships in the family, Wolf examines racial and cultural diversity among contemporary families in the U.S.

The Intimate Environment

Exploring Marriage and the Family, Sixth Edition

ARLENE SKOLNICK, University of California—Berkeley

This influential text integrates the latest sociological findings with historical, psychological, and anthropological material. The updated edition includes an increased focus on family life in America and an international, comparative approach.

Contemporary Racial and Ethnic Relations

CHARLES JARET, Georgia State University

This fresh new text takes a progressive approach to explain today's most important issues: especially inequality and cultural pluralism.

Race and Ethnicity in the United States

RICHARD T. SCHAEFER, Western Illinois University

This brief core text introduces key concepts in racial and ethnic relations in the U.S. while it explores the historical background and current events of prejudice, discrimination, immigration, ethnicity, and religion.

Deviant Behavior

Fourth Edition

ALEX THIO, Ohio University

This intriguing presentation of numerous theories and forms of deviant behavior has been updated to feature new theories of feminism, reintegrative shaming, phenomenology, and Marxism; new forms of deviances; and new analyses of recent ideas and research data.

Readings In Deviant Behavior

ALEX THIO, Ohio University

THOMAS C. CALHOUN, Ohio University

Packed with lively and diverse articles, this reader covers the major theories and a wide range of deviant behaviors, and compiles a variety of classical, contemporary, and original articles to reflect the current state of the sociology of deviance.

Sociology of Religion

A Reader

ANDREW M. GREELEY, The University of Chicago

Here's an intriguing interdisciplinary collection of 46 classic and contemporary essays from the renowned scholar and author.

LEARNING ALONG THE WAY

Mary Catherine Bateson

The author of Composing a Life and With A Daughter's Eye reminds us that in our rapidly changing and interdependent world the tasks of learning are never complete. Here, she encourages the reader to cast aside familiar habits of learning and interacting so as to encounter more successfully the unexpected and participate in the diverse world which surrounds us. ISBN 0-06-016859-5; hardcover, $23.00; 288 pages.

“An engagingly readable exploration of the rich opportunities that are to be found in these moments when people from vastly different cultural backgrounds encounter one another.”

—WALTER TRUETT ANDERSON, author of Reality Isn't What It Used to Be

Families on the Fault Line

AMERICA'S WORKING CLASS SPEAKS ABOUT THE FAMILY, THE ECONOMY, RACE AND ETHNICITY

Lillian Rubin

In this sequel to Worlds of Pain, sociologist Lillian Rubin introduces us to families who are being so pinched by the economy that they are leading relentlessly more desperate lives. In examining these families, Rubin explores the intersection of class, gender, race and ethnicity and the costs to individuals and society of the radical changes in the way the working class live today.

“Rubin fervently describes working class frustrations, anger, fears, hopes, and dreams. She debunks the myth of America as a classless society and, most importantly, argues that racial and ethnic discontent is due to the social and economic upheavals of the last two decades.”—Library Journal

“A searing, compassionate portrait of American family life.”—KIM CHERNIN

ISBN 0-06-016741-6 hardcover, $23.00

Paperback available in February, 1995.

The Hispanic Condition

REFLECTIONS ON CULTURE AND IDENTITY
IN THE AMERICAS

Ilan Stavans

The author of Growing Up Latino gives us a probing look at the society and culture of five major Hispanic groups in the U.S.: Cubans, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos, Central Americans, and South Americans. Stavans analyzes and compares the cultural differences and similarities of the five groups by discussing such topics as the music, literature, politics, food, and role of the intellectual in Hispanic society, and their ideas on love, death, marriage, family, and religion.

ISBN: 0-07-037631-X

SOCIOLOGY: An Introduction, 5/e

RICHARD GELLES,
University of Rhode Island;
ANN LEVINE

This comprehensive introductory text is published in paperback and packaged with a complimentary study guide. It provides the basics—the sociological perspective, theoretical orientations, methods, and concepts—and emphasizes how sociology answers real-world questions, both personal and public.

ISBN: 0-07-023606-2

THE GLOBAL SOCIETY

WILLIAM COCKERHAM,
The University of Alabama at Birmingham

Just as the title implies, The Global Society presents sociology as a way of understanding the world, not just individual societies. It explores classic statements as well as new structures evolved from the theories of modernization, dependency, and world-systems.

Cops Across Borders

The Internationalization of U.S. Criminal Law Enforcement

ETHAN A. NADELMANN

"Like a meteorite, Ethan Nadelmann has burst upon the academic scene bringing light, heat, and deep impressions. Cops Across Borders opens up a new field of inquiry and must be read by anyone concerned with U.S. foreign policy and criminal justice."

—Gary T. Marx, University of Colorado
480 pages cloth: $55.00 paper: $16.95

Can Workers Have a Voice?

The Politics of Deindustrialization in Pittsburgh

DALE A. HATHAWAY

"Can Workers Have a Voice? is much more comprehensive than other studies of the reaction of workers to the process of deindustrialization, and it takes the workers' perspective more fully into account. It emphasizes the elite role in deploying power in various forms and identifies such power usage convincingly. It is distinctive in the field."

—Kenneth M. Dolbear, Evergreen State College

Fidel Castro and the Quest for a Revolutionary Culture in Cuba

JULIE MARIE BUNCK

"Bunck's work is the best attempt to understand not just Fidel Castro's hopes for the transformation of Cuba's culture but also the extent to which those hopes ever became reality." —Jorge Dominguez, Harvard University
254 pages cloth: $35.00 paper: $14.95

Creating Social Democracy

A Century of the Social Democratic Labor Party in Sweden

EDITED BY KLAUS MISGELD, KARL MOLIN, AND KLAS ÅMARK

"The contributions to this volume provide an excellent introduction, by authors sympathetic to the Social Democrats and to the role of social democracy in Swedish history."

—Steven Kelman, Harvard University

A New Science

The Breakdown of Connections and the Birth of Sociology

BRUCE MAZLISH

New in Paperback

"This is the most interesting treatment I have read of how there came to be a felt need for sociology, of how a place was created in the intellectual firmament for this new science."

—Craig Calhoun, University of North Carolina

The Revenge of God

The Resurgence of Islam, Christianity and Judaism in the Modern World

GILLES KEPÉL

TRANSLATED BY ALAN BRALEY

"The greatest merit of The Revenge of God is that it takes the resurgence of 'fundamentalism' seriously in its own right and not simply as a phenomenon to be criticized from a Western, essentially secular, perspective."

—Arthur Hertzberg, NYU

Becoming a Scientist in Mexico

The Challenge of Creating a Scientific Community in an Underdeveloped Country

JACQUELINE FORTES AND LARISSA ADLER LOMNITZ

The authors' findings will be of interest to all scholars studying the relationships of science, technology, and society, especially those concerned about the special challenges underdeveloped countries face in integrating themselves into the worldwide scientific community.

The New Global Economy in the Information Age

Reflections on a Changing World

MARTIN CARNOY, MANUEL CASTELLS, STEPHEN S. COHEN, AND FERNANDO HENRIQUE CARDOSO

"An exceptionally provocative 'big think' book. Three well-known scholars from Stanford and Berkeley and Brazil's new foreign minister look beneath bromides about 'globalization' and 'interdependence' and predict that the nation-state will become an ever important manager of the integrationist forces sweeping the world."

Nîmes at War

Religion, Politics, and Public Opinion in the Gard, 1938–1944

ROBERT ZARETSKY

"In this highly interesting book, Robert Zaretsky describes how French men and women in the department of the Gard lived the Vichy regime from day to day. It will be most useful to historians of France, but it will also be welcomed by scholars who deal with the Second World War, the history of the Jews, and the history of religion. It might well be used in undergraduate classes as a case study for popular opinion in modern France."

Democracy Within Reason

Technocratic Revolution in Mexico

MIGUEL ANGEL CENTENO

"In its careful analysis of the origins, characteristics, and dynamics of the new technocratic elite within the Mexican state, this study makes a major contribution to our understanding of the radical social and economic changes which are shaping contemporary Mexico."

Southern Baptist Politics

Authority and Power in the Restructuring of an American Denomination

ARTHUR EMERY FARNSLEY II

"Farnsley offers us an engaging analysis of how the SBC moved dramatically to the right in the 1980s. By exploring the interplay of authority and power, he reveals how Fundamentalists subverted the Convention and institutionalized their control of it. Farnsley's general approach could be applied to other contemporary religious denominations and private-sector institutions."

—John F. Wilson, Princeton University

An Economy of Violence in Early Modern France

Crime and Justice in the Haute Auvergne, 1587–1664

MALCOLM GREENSHIELDS

"This study makes a significant contribution to the growing body of literature on crime, criminality, and justice in Old Regime France. With a solid, commonsensical approach, Green-shields offers great insight into not just the workings of the royal criminal justice system but also the often-brutal world of the Auvergnats. In the process, he shows us how the balance between private and public justice was gradually tipped in favor of the King's law."

Crossing the Color Line

Race, Parenting, and Culture
Maureen T. Reddy

"As far as I know, this is the first book in American literature that systematically, personally, with depth and courage, explores whiteness. It is written by a white woman whose children and husband are Black, and far from presuming some easy identification from this personal history, her love for them becomes the ground on which her own search, education, and ultimately transformation, is built."—Jane Lazarre, author of The Mother Knot

INFORMATION 101

Clustering ▼ a right-brain technique and process of free association, designed to open up possibilities and sources of knowledge, information and self-expression.

We can't do your thinking for you, but we can speed up the process.

You know what you know, and you certainly are aware of what you don't know. But what about all that knowledge which is, as yet, unknown?

What you don't know right now is, in fact, what you will soon discover. Obviously, what's really important is having the critical resources to speed up the process.

Our databases, sociological abstracts (sa) and Social Planning/Policy & Development Abstracts (SOPODA), have consistently provided informative abstracts and precise indexing that point you to current issues and support your research work. We track more than 2,000 core and discipline-related journals, as well as current books, dissertations, conference papers, and book and other media reviews published worldwide.

And now, we offer an important link to the full text of the articles you need, through SOCIOLOGY*EXPRESS. We will fulfill your requests for document delivery promptly and inexpensively by phone 800-313-9966; 415-259-5013 (worldwide) or fax 415-259-5048.

SOCIOLOGY AND THE NEW SYSTEMS THEORY

Toward a Theoretical Synthesis

Kenneth D. Bailey

This book provides current information about the many recent contributions of social systems theory. After providing a foundation reviewing of classical theory, this book carefully sketches the chief contributions of living systems theory, social entropy theory, autopoiesis, and other approaches.

372 pages • $19.95 pb • ISBN 0-7914-1744-1

PURSUIT OF ECSTASY

The MDMA Experience

Jerome Beck and Marsha Rosenbaum

"...The authors have done a remarkable piece of research, tracking down users, dealers, manufacturers, and other authorities on MDMA...It is a model for a research report on a problem of this kind...and arrives at an overall picture of the phenomenon that will add a lot to current knowledge."

— Howard S. Becker, University of Washington
239 pages • $14.95 pb • ISBN 0-7914-1818-9

WOMEN, THE FAMILY, AND POLICY

A Global Perspective

Esther Ngan-ling Chow and Catherine White Berheide, editors

"The strength of this book is the powerful introduction to the field of women and development and its integration with issues and data from studies of the family and gender. The authors argue strongly and demonstrate clearly the necessary interdependence of theory development in all of these specialties."

— Rachel Kahn-Hut, San Francisco State University

MAGAZINES FOR THE MILLIONS

Gender and Commerce in the Ladies' Home Journal and the Saturday Evening Post, 1880-1910

Helen Damon-Moore

"...both entertaining and analytical, loaded with telling comparisons...sharp observations about the magazines' content, their production, and readers' responses. Her insights about gender construction are important for all readers interested in popular culture." — Carl Kaestle, University of Wisconsin-Madison

FALSE FIXES

The Cultural Politics of Drugs, Alcohol, and Addictive Relations

David Forbes

"David Forbes has given us a book on drugs for the post-Reagan/Bush era. Even now there are few treatments of this subject from the point of view of its victims, the addicts. This book is an invaluable source for new social policy and widespread debate in the social sciences."

— Stanley Aronowitz, Graduate Center, City University of New York

ELDERCARE, DISTRIBUTIVE JUSTICE, AND THE WELFARE STATE

Retrenchment or Expansion

Derek G. Gill and Stanley R. Ingman, editors

"This book successfully analyzes the themes of social policy, distributive justice, and old-age policies among a diverse number of nations. Both the introduction and epilogue integrate the chapters and highlight the differences and similarities." — Laura Katz Olson, Lehigh University

335 pages • $19.95 pb • ISBN 0-7914-1766-2

HEALTH CARE FOR AN AGING POPULATION

Chris Hackler, editor

This volume examines one of the most important policy issues to be faced as policymakers address both current and future health care needs—the allocation of health care resources for an aging population. The book explores proposed changes in the U.S. health-care system to meet unprecedented demand expected early in the next century when the "baby-boom" generation reaches retirement age and eligibility for Medicare.

THE FUNDAMENTALS OF FAMILY MEDIATION

John M. Haynes

Although there are a number of mediation books, none provide a step-by-step description of each stage in the process. This book, designed as a mediator's handbook, can be used by the practicing mediator to solve almost any problem. The book will also be of interest to students and practitioners of family therapy, to social workers, and counselors.

DEVELOPMENTS IN AMERICAN SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY, 1915-1950

Roscoe C. Hinkle

"This topic is significant. Although there are a number of books available on the Chicago school of sociology, the Hinkle book is much more comprehensive and thorough in dealing with the state of American sociological theory between the great wars. It also has the virtue of examining the influences of other academic disciplines on the development of American sociology which no other book does at present." — Ellsworth R. Furman, Professor of Sociology, and Science and Technology Studies, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University

CIRCLES AND SETTINGS

Role Changes of American Women

Helena Znaniecka Lopata

"Many authors give lip service to the impact of subcultural contexts on family life. Very, very few, however, hold these variables firmly in mind the way Lopata does throughout her discussion. The symbolic interactionist approach to describing and explaining women's roles makes it possible to think in terms of behaviors, expectations, tasks, social interaction, and contexts in a cohesive manner. Lopata understands this and presents these ideas extremely well."
— Catherine A. Surra, University of Texas at Austin

ETHNICITY

Source of Strength? Source of Conflict?

J. Milton Yinger

"Yinger is one of the world's leading authorities on this subject, and this book provides a valuable distillation of his work and thought on this critical topic. I like most, as I have for years in Yinger's writing, his original thinking on both the macro- and micro-topics of the subject. This book is not a mere rehash of what is known in the field. It offers fresh, even sometimes contrasting, viewpoints to the accepted wisdom in the field." — T.F. Pettigrew, University of California, Santa Cruz

TOCQUEVILLE'S CIVIL RELIGION

American Christianity and the Prospects for Freedom

Sanford Kessler

"Kessler is a marvelous critic—shrewd and sympathetic; he admires Tocqueville's thinking or to present Tocqueville's argument even where it jars contemporary sensibilities. This book is certain to challenge and focus the thinking of anyone concerned about Tocqueville or the place of religion and democracy in America." — Wilson Carey McWilliams, Rutgers University

Bogdan Denitch
Ethnic Nationalism

The Tragic Death of Yugoslavia

"Bogdan Denitch is simply the best American author writing on the states that used to constitute Yugoslavia. Ethnic Nationalism represents his most synthetic and ambitious project on this topic. In my opinion, it is and will be regarded for some time [as] the definitive statement on the roots of the present disastrous civil war."

David Lyon

The Electronic Eye

The Rise of Surveillance Society

"We know from Foucault that modernity was above all and from the start about surveillance. What can (and should) we add to this knowledge from the experience of living in our computerized and information-saturated society, prominent for the willing cooperation of the surveilled with the surveillers? Lyon asks, and then answers, this seminal question comprehensively and in utterly authoritative fashion." Zygmunt Bauman, University of Leeds

Racial Conditions

Politics, Theory, Comparisons

Winant argues that race cannot be understood as a "social problem" or as a "survival" of earlier, more benighted ages. Among the topics discussed are the relationship between race and class, as well as the racial dimensions of gender, diaspora, colonialism, and fascism. Other key topics include the changing nature of racial identity in the post-civil rights era, the 1992 Los Angeles riot, and politics of race in Brazil.

A Hunger So Wide and So Deep

American Women Speak Out on Eating Problems

Based on in-depth life history interviews with African-American, Latina, and lesbian women, this book chronicles the effects of racism, sexism, acculturation, and sexual abuse on women's bodies and eating patterns. Thompson dispels popular stereotypes of anorexia and bulimia and stresses the risks of mislabeling what is often a way of coping with society's own disorders.

Andrew Szasz

EcoPopulism

Toxic Waste and the Movement for Environmental Justice

This book reconstructs the growth of a powerful movement around the question of toxic waste, following the issue as it moves from the world of "official" policymaking in Washington, onto the nation's television screens and into popular consciousness, and then into America's neighborhoods, spurring the formation of thousands of local, community-based groups. In its success, Szasz suggests, this movement may even prove to be the vehicle for reinvigorating progressive politics in the United States.

CONTEMPORARY CASES IN WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Leslie Friedman Goldstein

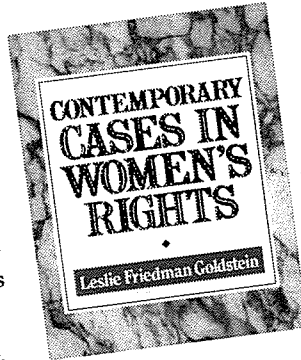

"Leslie Goldstein has produced another outstanding book for all students of women and the law. She supplies a rich and insightful analysis of the cases that have led up to the recent highly charged cases that the courts have been called upon to address. Will find an important niche for those who seek to understand women's legal status in the 1990s."

THE POLITICS OF PENSIONS

A COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS OF BRITAIN,

Ann Shola Orloff

"There is a vast literature on the development of the welfare state but few substantive comparative books that pursue a causal analysis. Ann Orloff's project is an exceptionally important addition to the literature. This book will force those interested in explaining the development of the welfare state to revise their arguments."

STATES, FIRMS, AND RAW MATERIALS

THE WORLD ECONOMY AND ECOLOGY OF ALUMINUM

Edited by Bradford L. Barham, Stephen G. Bunker, and Denis O'Hearn

"An excellent book about a very important set of questions. The overall project is to determine the causes and consequences of the organizational dimensions of raw materials acquisition. These matters touch upon the most basic issues regarding our understanding of the nature of our global political economy and its possibilities."

NEW FROM LEXINGTON BOOKS

THE VIOLENT SOCIAL WORLD OF BLACK MEN

William Oliver

“In a down to earth way, this book gives us greater insight into the problems that face young black men in America. Since violence is epidemic among young black males, this book is must reading for anyone seeking solutions to this crisis.”

—Alvin F. Poussaint, M.D.,
Harvard Medical School

“Riveting and compelling....A breakthrough in addressing and analyzing the conditions that fester violence in the lives of Black males. I highly recommend this book. It should be required reading for those who truly want to understand and solve one of society's most complex problems—violence in America.”

—Richard Majors, Ph.D.,
Past Chairman and Co-founder,
National Council of African American Men and author of Cool Pose: The Dilemmas of Black Manhood in America
1994 0-669-27952-8 $24.95

ENDING THE COLD WAR AT HOME

From Militarism to a More Peaceful World Order

Sam Marullo

“Sam Marullo's trenchant assessment in Ending the Cold War at Home will undermine any polyannish expectations that the end of the cold war will automatically lead to the dismantling of the American 'Garrison State.' His account of the institutionalization of militarism in American society provides both a blueprint for bringing about change and a sobering reminder of the difficulties of undoing the domestic consequences of the Cold War.”

—John D. McCarthy,
The Catholic University of America

“One of the devastating legacies of the Cold War, Sam Marullo convincingly demonstrates, is the institutionalization of militarism in the American society. He offers realistic policies to free us from the legacy and to advance fundamental human values.”

—Louis Kriesberg, Syracuse University
1994 0-669-24231-4 $29.95

RAISED BY THE GOVERNMENT

An Inside Look into America's Child Welfare System

Ira Schwartz,
Robert Ortega,
Shenyang Guo, and Gideon Fishman

Raised By the Government is the first penetrating analysis of our troubled child welfare system. The authors examine such critical questions as: What really happens to children, particularly minority children, who are taken away from their natural parents and placed in the custody of the state? How does the rate of infant mortality of children in foster care compare with that of the general population? Are children placed in the child welfare system more likely to become delinquents? Further, the book explores the trends and issues confronting child welfare nationally and makes bold and provocative recommendations for reform with significant implications for policy makers, child welfare professionals, and researchers at the national, state, and local levels.

NEIGHBORHOODS AND CRIME

The Dimensions of Effective Community Control

Robert J. Bursik, Jr. and
Harold G. Grasmick

“The best statement available of what we know about communities and crime... It is about both causes and cures for crime, and reaffirms in both instances the importance of healthy urban neighborhoods for all of American society.”

RECENT TITLES

Thomas Fararo, The Meaning of General Theoretical Sociology: Tradition and Formalization, paper (1992)

"The book is brilliant. It moves the field of sociology forward not only by doing but also by showing others how to do. It is magnificent in its breadth as no other formalization has combined action theory, interpretive sociology, and structuralism in such a comprehensive fashion" --

Kenneth D. Bailey, University of California at Los Angeles

Judith Blau, The Shape of Culture: A Study of Contemporary Cultural Patterns in the United States, paper (1992)

"Judith Blau's new book on patterns of cultural supply in the American metropolis is original and ambitious, owing to the theoretical scope of the issues it raises as well as to its carefully designed methodology and the fine statistical work on which it relies" -- Pierre-Michel Menger, Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales

David Sciulli, Theory of Societal Constitutionalism: Foundations of a NonMarxist Critical Theory, cloth (1992)

"While fishing in concept ponds of neighboring disciplines such as economics is customary in sociology, this is a first serious effort to integrate concepts of legal theory, here Lon Fuller's work, with Habermas and Parsons....this is mandatory reading for anyone with interest in serious critical theory" --

Rainer C. Baum, University of Pittsburgh

Fred C. Pampel and John B. Williamson, Age, Class, Politics and the Welfare State, paper (1992)

"...Pampel and Williamson succeed in transforming the terrain on which scholars of the welfare state must work. Besides upgrading methods and clarifying important issues, they provide the rudiments of a new 'democratic' theory of welfare policy. Teachers and scholars of the welfare state will report, contest, and revise Pampel and Williamson's imposing contribution throughout, at least, this next decade." --

Alexander Hicks, Emory University

Lewis Carter, Charisma and Control in Rajneeshpuram: The Role of Shared Values in the Creation of Community, cloth (1990)

"Charisma and Control in Rajneeshpuram takes a subject that has been written about extensively and well by investigative reporters and shows the power of sociological imagination and sociological methods in adding to our understanding. It is one of the best in a long, rich tradition of monographic case studies of American communities. It deserves to be recognized as a classic of American empirical sociology" --

Benjamin D. Zablocki, Rutgers University

Liah Greenfeld, Different Worlds: A Sociological Study of Taste, Choice and Success in Art, cloth (1989)

"Greenfeld has written a well-documented and nicely argued book that will certainly be of interest to those in the sociology of art and should also be read by those in related areas. Its argument extends beyond the book's focus, and merits a look by a broad audience" -- Samuel Gilmore, University of California, Irvine
